

BANDIT FIRES ON POSSE

MAYOR MOTT ORDERS TRAINS TAKEN OFF TWELFTH-ST. RUN

Action Based on Contention That the Franchise Does Not Authorize the Granting of the Privilege

Mayor Frank K. Mott this morning sent the following letter to the Oakland Traction Company forbidding the further running of trains on Twelfth street:

LETTER BY MAYOR.

June 15, 1911.

Oakland Traction Co., Oakland, Cal.: Gentlemen—My attention has been called to the action of your company in permitting trains of cars operated by the San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose Consolidated Railway Company to use the tracks of the Oakland Traction Company from Twelfth street to Twelfth and Broadway, without any permission or authorization from the city of Oakland so to do.

I have examined into the franchise granted on October 30, 1889, which was subsequently amended on March 2, 1891, and of which your company are the successors, and find therein that the franchise was granted only for street railway purposes and does not in any manner authorize the use of this street for a railway business such as the San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose Consolidated Railway Co., and of which your company conduct. The San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose Consolidated Company obtained a franchise from the city of Oakland in November, 1908, for the operation of its trains from Poplar and Twenty-fourth streets, along Poplar street to a point between Twelfth and Fourteenth streets, thence on a curve over their own property to a point on Twelfth street near Union street.

Under this grant they have the right to operate electric trains between the points just described, but are not authorized under this grant to go further, although this franchise permits a connection between the tracks of the San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose Consolidated Railway Company with those of the Oakland Traction Company at the junction of Twelfth and Union streets. The grant does not confer the right to propel trains onto or along the tracks of the latter company.

I have taken this matter up with the city attorney and had him examine into the various franchises granted your predecessors for the operation of a street railway along

Twelfth street, and also had him examine the franchise granted the San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose Consolidated Railway Company, for the operation of electric trains from Poplar and Twenty-fourth streets to Twelfth and Union streets, and he advises me that under the terms of the franchise granted for a street railway along Twelfth street from Twelfth and Broadway westwardly, that no power is conferred upon your company to permit the use of your tracks for any other system of railways or railroads other than for a strictly street railway business; therefore, I beg to inform and notify you that you are violating the terms of the franchise granted your predecessors on October 30, 1889, and the amendments thereto of March 2, 1891, in permitting the San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose Consolidated Railway Company to propel their trains over and along Twelfth street from Twelfth and Broadway to Union street, and you are hereby directed to at once cease operating or permitting to be operated trains of the San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose Consolidated Railway Company over and along the tracks of the Oakland Traction Company from Twelfth and Union streets to Twelfth and Broadway. Very truly yours,

FRANK K. MOTT, Mayor.

CITY ATTORNEY'S REPORT.

The report of the city attorney to the mayor is as follows:

June 14, 1911.

Frank K. Mott, Esq., Mayor of the City of Oakland, Oakland, Cal.

Dear Sir—As per your request I have your honor's opinion as to legal right of Oakland Traction Company, a corporation, to operate railway cars, connected between Broadway and Twelfth streets along Twelfth street, to the junction of Poplar and Twelfth streets, in the city of Oakland, thence to the river.

The original franchise under which said Oakland Traction Company at present operating, was granted October 30, 1889, by the City Council of the city of Oakland, pursuant to subdivision 87 of section 31, article 3, of the charter of the city of Oakland, and was a franchise to construct, lay down, operate and maintain a street railroad, etc.

The ordinance granting this franchise was amended March 5, 1891, permitting the use of electricity as a motive power and permitting the erection of poles and wires along the streets named in the

FRANK FROST WILL BE SUCCESSOR TO TAYLOR

FRANK W. FROST, who succeeds Samuel J. Taylor as secretary and treasurer of the Oakland Traction Company, the San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose, the California and the East Shore and Suburban Railway Companies.

To Take Place Made Vacant by Railway Man Going to Water Company

After continuous and faithful service for many years as secretary of the Oakland Traction Company and kindred corporations, in this section of the State, Sam J. Taylor, one of the best known railway men in this vicinity, retires from that position to take charge of the finances of the Peoples Water Company.

His successor, in connection with the railroad companies, will be Frank W. Frost, who has been connected with the corporations in question for the past nineteen years. Mr. Frost will perform the duties of secretary and treasurer for the Oakland Traction Company, the San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose, the California and the East Shore and Suburban Railway.

The successor to Sam Taylor became connected with the local railway business in this city in 1892, serving in the financial department of what, in those days, was known as the Oakland and Berkeley Rapid Transit Company, the first electric railway in this part of the State, which had as backers, among others, Major J. E. McElrath, George W. McNear and John W. Coleman, all of whom passed away. Later the road got under the control of the Oakland Traction Company and Mr. Frost remained in the employ of the concern up to the present time, for many years performing the duties of assistant secretary.

In the early part of the present year, after the organization of the United Properties Company of California, which included among its auxiliary corporations the Oakland Traction Company, the Key Route, the California and the East Shore Suburban Railways, Mr. Frost was transferred to the office of the great merger concern in San Francisco, where he performed certain duties in connection with the controlling organization and, at the same time, discharged those which had formerly devolved upon him as secretary of the other concerns before the consolidation.

He has now been brought back to this city and, after today, his office will be at the headquarters of the Oakland Traction Company, at the corner of San Pablo avenue and Twentieth street.

Mr. Frost is one of the best known young men in this city. He has been a faithful employee of the corporations with which he has been connected and his promotion is an appreciation on their part of the fact.

He will be succeeded in the position of assistant secretary by Angus Clark, who has been in the employ of the Traction Company for the past four years.

FIND GEMS AND JAIL WOMAN

Pretty Brunette in Prison for Taking Diamonds Admirer Gave Her

'Old Fool!' She Says When the Detectives Discover Jewels in Cushion

A handsome brunette, two diamond rings, a diamond brooch valued at $800, a trip to Sacramento and a leather sofa cushion figured among materials of romance in which Dr. L. L. McCullough of Philadelphia, adventuring during a little trip to California, Dr. McCullough is on his way back to the Quaker City, while Mrs. Isabella R. Raeburn of 1401 Franklin street, the handsome brunette, is confined in the city prison. Captain of Detectives Walter J. Petersen has the cushion and the diamonds. The trip to Sacramento failed to come off.

Dr. McCullough came to California on business and pleasure, and was not adverse to commingling the two. While at the postoffice building in San Francisco a few days ago he entered into conversation with a handsome and beautifully groomed, brunette, whom he gladly supplied with stamps for a letter she desired to post. The two left the postoffice together, and took a little street car ride.

ATTEND CHURCH TOGETHER.

The next day was Sunday, and Dr. McCullough and Mrs. Isabella Raeburn, of Oakland, now become fast friends, went to church together. In the afternoon they visited the Golden Gate Park. Later they went together to Piedmont Park in Oakland and also visited Idora. Mrs. Raeburn seemed to know the right places to go, and the physician gladly submitted himself to her direction.

Finally they decided to take a little trip to Sacramento to see the capital. Dr. McCullough, admiring the beauty of his companion, provided additional adornment in the form of two diamond rings and a diamond brooch.

When he made his appearance at the rendezvous for the Sacramento trip he waited in vain for Mrs. Raeburn. She did not arrive, and he notified the police of San Francisco and Oakland of the loss of his jewels. After waiting two days, Dr. McCullough gave up and took the train for Philadelphia.

WOMAN IS FOUND.

But today Captain Petersen located the woman, and Detectives Green and Kyle placed her under arrest at her apartments at 1401 Franklin street. Then Captain Petersen sought Dr. McCullough, looking for a telegram after the Overland to catch him at Chicago to bring him back to testify in the case.

All the elements of romance have been provided with the exception of the red leather sofa pillow. The cushion looked innocent, but after searching every possible place in the rooms, they finally tore open the cushion. It contained the missing diamonds.

"Well, you found them," said Mrs. Raeburn. "But it was an old fool and I thought they might as well decorate me as anyone else."

She is charged with felony embezzlement.

Mrs. Moreholtz was arrested and accused Mrs. Dujek of alienating the affections of her husband. A 6-year-old son of Mrs. Dujek stood with his mother when she was attacked.

DICK FERRIS IS ARRESTED INDICTED BY U. S. JURORS

DICK FERRIS, who has been arrested on a United States indictment charging conspiracy.

"President" of the Lower California Republic Faces Charges of Serious Nature

SAN DIEGO, June 15.—Dick Ferris of Los Angeles was arrested shortly before noon today on a charge of conspiracy to hire and retain persons in the United States to enter service of a foreign power as soldiers. The arrest was the result of an indictment voted by the United States grand jury at Los Angeles, and the warrant was served this morning by Deputy United States Marshal Harry Place.

The ball, which was fixed in Los Angeles, is $2500. Ferris, in the custody of the deputy marshal at noon today, had not succeeded in raising the bail and was in search of bondsmen.

The date of his hearing had not been set at noon, but it probably will go to Los Angeles within a short time. The arrest, it is believed, is in connection with the arrest of the members of the Mexican liberal party's junta in Los Angeles, and Ferris, it is believed, will be tried for his alleged part in promoting the Lower California troubles.

The arrest of Ferris created a sensation in San Diego. He made no secret of his connection with the rebel movement in Lower California, and as early as last February sent a personal telegram to President Diaz of Mexico, telling him what had transpired in Lower California and offered to establish a new republic. Diaz, in a brief reply, declined to recognize the matter.

'Joke's On Me,' Says 'One-day President' of New Republic

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—When informed that Dick Ferris had been arrested in San Diego in connection with his brief incumbency as "president of the Republic of Lower California," Frank Stewart, assistant United States District Attorney, said that the prisoner could give bail before a federal commissioner in San Diego and thus "avoid being brought to Los Angeles in the custody of deputy United States marshals."

"If Ferris does not do this, he will be brought to jail here immediately," said Stewart.

DESPERATE BATTLE IS FOUGHT

Fred Melville, Cornered by Man-Hunters, Keeps Them Off With Lead

Youthful Highwayman May Be Driven From 'Ambush' by Hunger

VALLEJO, June 15.—Word from the posse, led by Sheriff R. R. Veale of Contra Costa county at 3 o'clock this afternoon was to the effect that Melville had not been located, but that deputies were scouring the thickets in hopes of drawing his fire and thus establishing the spot where he is entrenched. It is believed that the youthful bandit will have to be killed before he can be taken from his stronghold.

VALLEJO, June 15.—Fred Melville, the boy bandit, who since has escaped from the Preston reform school less than two weeks ago, is believed to have been responsible for the holding up of at least a dozen saloons in this vicinity, was surrounded on a hilltop between this city and Benicia about 9 o'clock this morning by a sheriff's posse and nearly 200 shots were exchanged.

The fight began at 6 o'clock. The boy is said to have three pistols and 150 rounds of ammunition. For three hours he stood off the posse and at 9 o'clock reinforcements were asked from Vallejo, Benicia and Lodi. They were hastily gathered and rushed to the scene of the fight.

Melville took his stand in a thicket at the top of the hill. The open hillside gave him a good view of the movements of the posse from every direction. Although his pursuers were concealed in bushes at the foot of the hill they had no chance to rush the young bandit's stronghold.

Melville was believed to be without provisions or want. For three hours he kept up their fire and Melville returned it, volley for volley. The sheriff's thought that his ammunition would soon be exhausted and that he could be captured by night.

ATTEMPT TO ARREST FUTILE.

Melville escaped two weeks ago from the Preston reform school and since then he has frequently been seen in the neighborhood. It is alleged. Several saloon robberies in the neighborhood of Preston have occurred. It is believed he was the bandit in each case. An attempt to arrest him was made, but the authorities say he fled heavily armed and threatened.

Shortly after 9 o'clock Melville attempted to leave his stronghold at the top of the hill. Sheriff Arthur Veale of Contra Costa county, who was in a motor under Sheriff Veale, saw him. He fired fifteen shots at the bandit, who fled back toward the top of the hill and disappeared among the bushes and rocks.

The posse ceased firing after this encounter and the lad was left surrounded. The posse under Sheriff Veale, Chief of Police Sanford of Vallejo and Sheriff Frazier of Solano county completely encircled the base of the hill. They were about a mile from the spot where the boy bandit is hidden.

Melville has had nothing to eat, the officers say, since 8 o'clock last night, and his desperate attempt to flee and break through the lines is believed to indicate the fact that he is in desperate straits.

Hunger, the officers believed, would soon win the battle for them.

The officers got track of Melville last night when Sheriff George Frazier met him near the Three Mile house. The two fought a pistol duel. Five or six shots were fired. Melville dropped, Sheriff Frazier says, and crawled off into the bushes. A search last night failed to reveal any trace of his whereabouts.

Harl Maggart Breaks Rules And Is Justly Suspended

Outfielder Harl Maggart of the Oakland team was indefinitely suspended this morning for an infraction of the rules.

Manager Harry Wolverton, who is leaving no stone unturned to put a winning club in Oakland, had given his men orders to report to the ball park for morning practice, something that every manager in a well-regulated league does for the interest of baseball, and all of the Oakland team willingly obeyed by the rules of the manager.

Maggart, though, who is of an obstinate nature, thought himself too big to show up every morning for a couple of hours' work and refused to obey the mandates of Manager Wolverton.

While Maggart will in a measure be missed from the line-up of the team his absence will not work any great hardship to the Oaks. Simply by shifting Hoffman to left, leaving Zacher in center and placing Coy in right field Oakland will have just as good an outfield and the ability of the team to show its class on the diamond will in no way be dampened.

Some fans have criticized Manager Wolverton, but Oakland has never before had a manager who has shown the ability to try and win as has Wolverton. He has treated his men and does treat them with the best of consideration and the refusal of Maggart to report to practice does not reflect the ball player.

Amos Rusie jumped New York and Orval Overall is out of the Chicago line-up and neither of them were ever missed. So will it be with Maggart. Oakland will get a new outfielder, players who do not have the interest of their club at heart.

franchise for the transmission of electrical power and changing the gauge of the roadway.

There is only one question involved, namely, is the company operating these cars adhering to the legal requirements of a street railroad franchise. The difference between street railroads and railroads for general traffic is well defined and the essential features and requirements of a street railroad company operating cars along the streets of the municipality are:

First—The cars must be run at a moderate rate of speed.

Second—The cars must be for the purpose of carrying passengers from one thickly populated portion of a city to another portion of the city, or its suburbs, and for local convenience; and Third—The cars must be run at short intervals, stopping at all street crossings to receive and discharge passengers.

From information which has come to me, I understand that these cars are operated between the Key Route mole, on a schedule rate of speed, which is faster than a moderate rate of speed, and that the cars are not run at the short intervals provided for in the franchise and do not stop at all street crossings to receive and discharge passengers. In other words, the company is operating these cars as a commercial railroad enterprise and not as a street railroad at all. I therefore have to advise you that, as mayor of the city, you have the power to compel the company in question to keep within the terms of its franchise.

Yours respectfully,
(Signed) BEN F. WOOLNER,
City Attorney.

STATEMENT BY COMPANY.

Referring to Mayor Mott's letter ordering discontinuance of the service on Twelfth street, Mr. Alberger, vice-president of the company, stated that from legal advice obtained, he had no doubt of the right of the company to operate the character of cars now being operated upon Twelfth street and he had no doubt that the operation of the cars by the present method was strictly legal. He also stated that it was the desire of the company that before taking any action with reference to the mayor's communication, that E. A. Heron, president of the company, should be consulted.

Mr. Heron is at present in the country and will soon return, at which time the mayor's notice to the company will be fully considered.

PICARD CASTS HIS HATRED AT FEET OF WIFE

Accused Dynamiter Reviles Spouse in the Court-Room.

BOUND OVER WITH BONDS FIXED AT $20,000

Brands Constable Al Kihn Base Falsifier While On the Stand.

Charles H. Picard was held to answer before Judge Mortimer Smith this morning on a felony charge of having placed explosives in his residence at 1920 Fifth avenue, with intent to do bodily injury to his former wife, Mrs. Rosalia Longstreet, or to her attorneys. The man was bound over to the superior court in the sum of $20,000.

The vindictive hatred that has actuated the man in his attempt to murder his wife by mining the house in preparation for a visit from her, manifested itself in the courtroom in the solitary question he desired to ask his former wife. Picard was not represented by counsel, and refused to question most of the witnesses for the prosecution. As Mrs. Longstreet was about to leave the stand Prosecuting Attorney Ezra Decoto asked Picard if he wished to ask her any questions.

Picard rose in the cage and gazed malignantly at his former wife. When she had entered the courtroom the first expression that passed over his facial features gleamed in his eyes. He followed her with his glance until she had taken the stand, and then sat back in the prisoner's dock, shading his eyes and apparently paying little attention to the testimony. But attorney Decoto's question brought him to his feet.

ACCUSES WOMAN.

"Yes, I want to ask her a question," he said. "Ask her when she came out of the docks?"

"The question is an improper one, without bearing upon the case, and is ruled out," declared Judge Smith. Picard subsided in his place after a glance of hatred at Mrs. Longstreet, indicating that he was still unrepentant as to his attempt against her life. On one other occasion only did Picard take part in the proceedings—when he introduced a witness, who was blown up in the explosion which killed his wife. In his testimony Kihn testified that he had found two rifles, three boxes of cartridges and three empty revolvers, the latter in the drawer in a bedroom.

"Were there two or three holsters in the drawer?" demanded Picard.

"There were three," responded Kihn.

BRANDS HIM LIAR.

"You're a liar," replied Picard. The case prepared against Picard by Captain of Detectives Petersen was complete in every particular. Photographs of the house taken by Harry Tideman after the explosion, portions of the mechanical devices manufactured by Picard to set off the explosive, diagrams and plans of the house, and cans and boxes of powder were introduced as evidence. At each of the witnesses testified, among them being Harry East Miller, consulting chemist and explosive expert, and Mrs. Minnie Homeney, who resided at the Picard residence for several months. Detective Richard McSorley repeated the confession of Picard, in which he declared that he had placed the explosives for his wife and for her attorneys, Harrison S. Robinson and Harry A. Ence. Witnesses for the prosecution were as follows: Deputy Sheriff John Riley and Bert Brown, Constable Al Kihn, Harry East Miller, G. R. Mitchell, H. M. Tideman, Mrs. Minnie Homeney, George Jansen, Mrs. Rosalia Longstreet, H. A. Petersen, David Waugh, Charles C. Miller, William Sprague, Captain Walter J. Petersen and Detectives Harry Green, William Kyle and Richard McSorley.

Twelve-Year-Old Catherine Parker Asks Court to Relieve Her of Part of Income.

CHICAGO, June 15.—Catherine Barker, 12 years old, of La Porte, Ind., who, by her father's will receives an annual income of $80,000 for her education and sustenance, has applied to the Circuit Court for permission to divide her income with charitable institutions of La Porte and Michigan City, Ind.

Miss Barker received $30,000,000 as her share of her father's estate, which is held in trust.

When the ominous summons came from the federal inquisitors, Ferris declared that he had not taken his sudden elevation to the rank of potentate seriously and had no thought of violating the neutrality laws of the United States. It was all a joke, he said, on himself, played by the inquisitors. But following published reports that some months previously he had wired Diaz an offer involving the separation of Lower California from Mexico, the grand jury evidently took his action as president seriously enough to indict him for a penal offense.

More arrests are expected; Magons to be arraigned.

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—Ricardo Flores Magon, Anselmo Figueroa, Enrique Magon and Librado Rivera, alleged heads of the Mexican revolutionary junta who were arrested here on federal indictments yesterday, will be arraigned Monday before United States District Judge Wellborn on the charge of having violated the neutrality laws of this country. According to officials of the United States district attorney's office, bail of $5000 will be demanded in each case.

More arrests are expected on indictments already found by the federal grand jury before the Magons and their alleged associates appear in court. Three of these, according to the federal authorities, may occur today. Two of the indicted men are said to be in San Diego and another in San Francisco.

HEAD OF MORMON CHURCH SUMMONED BY PROBERS

Joseph F. Smith Must Tell What He Knows of the Sugar Combine; Spreckels Called

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Joseph F. Smith, head of the Mormon church, has been summoned to appear before the House sugar trust investigating committee to tell what he knows of the formation of the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company, a combination.

Senator Smoot of Utah made an unsuccessful effort to have the Mormon president excused, insisting that Thomas R. Cutler of Salt Lake could supply all the information desired from Smith. The committee, after considering the matter, decided that Smith should appear in person.

"Senator Smoot of Utah asked me to submit to the committee a request that Smith be excused from testifying before the committee on the ground that Thomas R. Cutler knows everything that Smith can possibly testify to, and more, too," explained Chairman Hardwick to the committee. "I told Smoot that while the list of witnesses had been arranged by a sub-committee and there had been no formal vote, I did not feel like taking the authority on myself to do it. My own view is considering the allegation in the original complaint, Smith is a material witness. He is one of the two or three men the district attorney of New York and the attorney general of the United States have alleged were responsible for the formation of the Utah-Idaho combination."

IS NOT EXCUSED.

Congressman Baker moved that Smith be not excused and the motion carried. A resolution adopted in 1888 by the directors of the American Sugar Refining Co., authorizing their committee to fix the price of sugar and to buy from refineries at terms to be fixed at their discretion, contained the following language: "The company today when they appeared before the House committee."

The resolution had been found in the minute books of the company. Representative Charles H. Dwyer, a director of the American Sugar Refining Co., then was called. Before getting to his services as a director Palmer told about his work for the company in arranging traffic rates. He took up in detail the so-called "Kelly letters," which appeared in a grand jury investigation in New York.

"On occasions when rebates were being given to others, Kelly, my subordinate, generally got what was coming to us," explained Palmer.

"The witness said that in 1886 H. O. Havemeyer drove Theodore A. Havemeyer out of the firm of Harris & Havemeyer of Philadelphia because Theodore had made an advantageous agreement with the Pennsylvania railroad company which was harmful to the Brooklyn refineries."

Heke on stand.

Charles R. Heke, for years secretary of the American Sugar Refining Company, was again a witness before the committee today. After a preliminary examination, Chairman Hardwick told Heke he wanted to inquire into his personal knowledge and not his official relation with the American Sugar Refining Company.

"Did not you have at the time any idea of the purpose of the merger of the sugar refineries?" Hardwick asked.

"I knew less than now," replied Heke.

"Well, from your present knowledge what would you say was the purpose?"

"A large company can do business at a reduced cost."

"Probably," Heke said. He then told the committee that when he appeared before the grand jury in New York yesterday, the district attorney asked him on what subjects he would be examined.

"That has not been done in this case and I am not so well prepared to answer your question."

Still relying on the witness' personal knowledge, Chairman Hardwick asked Heke for his estimate of the holdings of President H. O. Havemeyer in the American Sugar Refining Company.

"I know less than now," replied Heke.

ican Sugar Company at the time he swayed the company.

"Oh, 100 or 200 shares in his own name," he said.

"Did his family hold none?"

"Probably 2000 shares."

"Did Havemeyer ever unload any of his stock?"

"I would not say 'unload,' I would say 'sell.' He never owned much in his own name, anyway."

Heke offered at one point in his testimony to tell about his indictment growing out of the so-called sugar frauds. Hardwick stopped him, explaining that another committee (on expenditures in the department of justice) probably would ask him to appear before it before he got out of town.

Heke's concluding testimony stirred up a discussion of tariff policies.

"I believe that each country should produce what it can produce cheapest," said Heke. "I am a free trader."

Hardwick asked if he would have free trade in raw sugar.

"Yes, but I would take the tariff off gradually."

Heke's views stirred Representative Fordney, a stand-pat Republican from Michigan.

"I would have the duty taken off slowly over a period of twenty years," explained Heke.

"HELL!" SAYS FORDNEY.

"Oh, hell," exclaimed Fordney, "half of us will be dead by that time."

Lowell M. Palmer, formerly a director of the American Sugar Refining Company, then was called. Before getting to his services as a director Palmer told about his work for the company in arranging traffic rates. He took up in detail the so-called "Kelly letters," which appeared in a grand jury investigation in New York.

"I know less than now," replied Heke.

"Well, from your present knowledge what would you say was the purpose?"

"A large company can do business at a reduced cost."

"Probably," Heke said. He then told the committee that when he appeared before the grand jury in New York yesterday, the district attorney asked him on what subjects he would be examined.

"That has not been done in this case and I am not so well prepared to answer your question."

I EXPECT TO LIVE TO BE A HUNDRED AND FIFTY

PROF. JAMES M. MUNYON greeted by Ned Mitchell of the Owl Drug Company on the former's arrival in San Francisco.

Dr. James M. Munyon, Apostle of Hope, Arrives on Coast to Bring Story of Hope.

Professor James M. Munyon, the famous Philadelphia health authority, arrived in San Francisco yesterday direct from the East, and with characteristic energy began the campaign which he is to wage in the bay cities before he arrives at the Ferry depot. Talking to a group of newspaper reporters who met him at the Oakland pier, he said:

"It is good to be in California, the land of cheerfulness and sunshine. Sunshine radiates hope, and it is hope that I have been my life work to preach. I am sure that in a land like this my efforts will be met with encouragement and support, and I feel that I am going to outdo in San Francisco the great success which I have met in the larger cities of the East with my new health theories."

Continuing, Professor Munyon said: "I expect to live to be 150 years of age. At my present age I am young physically, than most men of 40, and I believe that I shall retain my youthful strength indefinitely. I consider that the normal human age should be not less than 100 years, and I will even go so far as to say that death before 100 years of age has been reached is nothing more than slow suicide."

"I am here to tell the people of this bay region about my opinions on the subject of health, which are the fruit of a lifetime devoted to healing the sick people of America. I shall send my messages through the newspapers day by day, but more than that I want to meet the people of San Francisco and vicinity and tell them face to face some of the truths that I have learned."

"To these people I bring a story of hope: I can give them a promise of better things. I want to astonish them by showing them the record of cures performed through my new system of treatment."

"I have taken the best of the ideas from all schools, and embodied them in a new system of treatments, individually adapted to each particular case. I have no 'cure-alls,' but my present method of attacking disease is new. The success which has attended this treatment all over America proves its efficacy. Old methods must give way to new. Medical science moves. I know what my remedy is for humanity. I know what they will do for the people of San Francisco. Let me prove my statements—that's all I ask."

Lineman Lives After 15,000 Volts Pass Through Body

ALAMEDA, June 15.—While at work on the top of the high tower at Alameda point, Fred Porter, a lineman in the employ of the Southern Pacific Company, sustained a shock of 15,000 volts and lived. Porter was engaged with another lineman in arranging wires at the top of the tower when the big cable struck his right foot. Porter became unconscious and was only saved from falling to the ground, a distance of 265 feet, by the prompt action of his fellow workman. The other lineman carried Porter down the steps of the tower and he was brought to this city, where he was attended by Dr. Keys.

Porter, who resides in West Oakland, was taken taken to the Southern Pacific hospital in San Francisco. Dr. Keys says that the escape of the man from death was miraculous as 15,000 volts of electricity passed through his body.

Germany Dodges the Blame For Exiled Castro's Landing

BERLIN, June 15.—The German government disclaims all responsibility for the steamer Consul Grostuck, which is reported flying the German flag, and announces that the blame for any complications that may result from the landing of Cipriano Castro, the exiled president of Venezuela, will rest on the Haytian government.

Porter, who resides in West Oakland, was taken taken to the Southern Pacific hospital in San Francisco. Dr. Keys says that the escape of the man from death was miraculous as 15,000 volts of electricity passed through his body.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—Milton Heyneman, the haberdasher of 51 Post street, arrested for violating the eight-hour law for women, pleaded guilty in Police Judge Sullivan's court this morning and will be sentenced July 15. His pleading guilty came as a surprise and it is thought that he will be let off with a reprimand.

WILL EXTEND THE FERRY BUILDING

Plan Is to Add Wing at Each End and to Construct More Slips.

The Development of Oakland Waterfront Figures Largely in the Proposition.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—In anticipation of a vast increase in ferry traffic on San Francisco Bay within the next few years the board of harbor commissioners, acting upon the suggestion of President Marshall Hale, yesterday met with representatives of all the railroad companies doing business through the ferry and slips for the purpose of discussing plans for the extension of the ferry building 80 feet on each end and the construction of seven additional slips, which would make a total of fourteen available to handle the traffic.

The development of the Oakland western waterfront was taken into consideration by W. R. Scott, assistant general manager of the Southern Pacific, who pointed out that in his opinion it would be a great factor in making an increase in business. General Manager E. E. Calvin of the same company stated that it was the intention of the Southern Pacific to install two new ferries within a short time for the exclusive handling of automobiles.

WILL PREPARE PLANS.

Assistant State Engineer Sapi was instructed to prepare sketches and plans of the proposed work and it was suggested that the dolphins of the slips be extended farther into the bay in order that liability of collision when the tides run strong might be diminished by allowing the boats to enter the slips under greater headway, assuring control.

Facts and figures as to traffic at the present time were received with much interest by those present. It was shown that the Southern Pacific handles 60,000 people through the ferry depot every twenty-four hours, the Key Route 40,000 and that the other lines carried more than 500,000 a year, sometimes averaging as much as 50,000 a day.

REPRESENTATIVE GATHERING.

Representing the Southern Pacific at the meeting were E. E. Calvin, general manager; W. R. Scott, assistant general manager; E. E. Wade, assistant general passenger agent; William Mackenzie, superintendent of river steamers; E. B. Carson, general baggage agent.

The Santa Fe was represented by Captain A. H. Payson, vice-president, who is also president of the Northwestern Pacific. W. A. Ellsall, assistant traffic manager, and Superintendent J. Kinucan.

The Western Pacific was represented by General Manager C. M. Levey, W. E. Palmer, general manager, representing the Northwestern Pacific, and with him was T. Love, joint agent for the Western Pacific, Santa Fe and Northwestern Pacific.

The Key Route's contribution of suggestions were furnished by J. P. Potter, general superintendent, and J. O. Brown, superintendent of maintenance.

EMOTIONAL EPISODE MARKS COOKE TRIAL

Mrs. Ford Declares On Stand That Daughter Is Defendant's Child.

JURY AND AUDIENCE BURST INTO TEARS

Incident Was So Intensely Dramatic That Judge Adjourned Court for Day.

CINCINNATI, June 15.—Two incidents stirred today the emotions of the spectators at the trial of Edgar S. Cooke, charged with embezzling $24,000 from the Big Four railway. Mrs. Jennette Stewart Ford, on the stand for cross-examination, and Mrs. Edgar Cooke, wife of the defendant, were the central figures of the first incident. When Mrs. Cooke, who has steadfastly stood by her husband, took a seat at his side today there was a murmur of expectancy, intensified when Mrs. Ford's "invalid" chair was wheeled in front of the jury, but there was no indication on the witness countenance that she felt anything but pity for the other woman.

The second incident was preceded by the entrance of Mrs. Ford's daughter, aged 15, the child ran to her mother just as the latter said: "There is my daughter, Jennette, and she is Cooke's child."

BURST INTO TEARS.

The witness burst into sobs as she made this confession, and tears streamed down the faces of jurymen and spectators. So shaken was Mrs. Ford by the incident that she was removed from the room. Her physician declared she could not stand further questioning, and court adjourned. Under the cross-examination that preceded adjournment, Mrs. Ford admitted having shot and wounded Cooke, having had him arrested for assault in Chicago and later for non-support of her child.

GOES OVER PAST CAREER.

Attorney Charles W. Baker, for the defense, led Mrs. Ford back to her earlier career and the name of Frank Comstock, who preceded Warner as local treasurer of the Big Four, was again brought into the trial.

"Who told you Comstock was short?" asked Baker.

"Cooke told me."

"How well did you know Comstock?"

"Well, a bit more than friendly."

"Is not it true that you and Comstock went on a two weeks' spree and that while on it he told you of his shortage?"

"Maybe he did."

TESTIMONY TAKEN IN THE BLACKBURN TRIAL

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—The trial of Daniel E. Blackburn was continued today before Judge Cabaniss with Charles S. Marshall of the H. S. Crocker Company, one of the witnesses, testifying. He was cross-examined at great length by Attorney Coughlin, with frequent objections interposed by the district attorney.

NEW REMEDY FOR RELIEF OF DEAF

Remarkable Results Claimed for Modern Vapor Catarrh Treatment.

DR. MUNYON MEETS PUBLIC

Health Expert Establishes Headquarters at Owl Store in Phelan Building.

Remarkable results in the healing of chronic catarrh of the head, which in many cases had resulted in almost total deafness, are claimed for a new form of treatment now being introduced in San Francisco by Prof. J. M. Munyon, the wealthy philanthropist and scientist. In a statement relative to the new form of treatment, Professor Munyon said: "I am glad to have an opportunity to talk about my new treatment for catarrh. I think it is one of the most important discoveries of the field of medical research made in recent years. I do not claim the credit for the formula. I wish could, but I am glad to be able to say that I had and seized the opportunity to secure its exclusive control in placing it within the reach of the general public. "Many physicians consider catarrh a blood disease. Others say it is a purely local inflammation of the mucous membranes, while some say it is a germ disease. A few doctors will tell you that there is no such thing as catarrh—that it is merely a symptom of some other disease."

"I don't pretend to say that catarrh really is, but I do know that my vapor treatment, combined with my general remedies for building up the entire system, is the most marvelously successful treatment that I know. This new method of attacking catarrh has also proved successful in relieving catarrh of the ears, head noises and other aural troubles which result from the clogging up of the Eustachian tubes with catarrhal mucus secretions. Catarrhal deafness usually comes on gradually and may attack one or both ears at the same time. Whenever a form of catarrh in the head is neglected it will run into catarrhal deafness sooner or later. Catarrh is usually the forerunner of rheumatism and consumption. The most dangerous thing in the world, any honest physician will admit, is probably catarrh that has been allowed to run unchecked."

"For these reasons, I feel that my new catarrh treatment is a wonderful thing and a great boon to the public. Its success has been universal in every city in the United States in which it has been introduced. I have in my office thousands of testimonials from people who have been cured—relieved entirely of that dreadful foul taste in the morning; the continuous ringing and spinning in the ears; the loss of vitality which it brings. Right here in San Francisco scores of people who have taken this treatment have returned to tell of its truly remarkable effects."

Professor Munyon announced that his headquarters at the Owl Drug Store in the Phelan building will be open from 10 o'clock in the morning to 8 at night.

'SEEING ALAMEDA COUNTY' CAR ON FIRST RUN

Officials of the Traction and Key Route Companies Make Trip.

STATE UNIVERSITY IS FIRST PLACE VISITED

Oakland, Piedmont, Fruitvale, and Alameda Also Are Included.

The sightseeing trolley car run by the Oakland Traction Company was inaugurated this morning, and several of the higher officials of the company were present at the Key Route Inn when the car left at 10:10 o'clock this morning with a large party of sightseers from San Francisco and a party from Oakland. Among the officials present were General Superintendent J. P. Potter of the Oakland Traction and Key Route systems, and G. S. Detrick, who has charge of the new sightseeing trolley car system. H. E. Davis personally conducted the tour, and pointed out the places of interest during the trip.

The first place visited was the State University, where nearly an hour was spent at the Greek theater and other points of interest. From there the party went to Northbrae. From the end of the line the visitors were taken in automobiles to the Indian Rock, which is a show point of that district.

OTHERS JOIN PARTY.

A number of sightseers were picked up in Berkeley. At that point W. W. Keith, industrial agent for the Key Route, joined the party, as did also A. H. Smith, superintendent of the Central division of the Oakland Traction Company.

From the Indian Rock the party went by way of Telegraph avenue to the Piedmont park, where an hour was consumed in taking luncheon and visiting the art gallery and the natural beauties of the park.

After that spot the car went down East Fourteenth street as far as Fruitvale, where some time was spent in going through the grounds of the ostrich farm. From there the visitors went to Alameda and there saw the points of interest in that city.

The trip will end shortly before 4 o'clock at Twenty-second street and San Pablo avenue, where the San Francisco tourists will take the train for that city.

A regular system of daily sightseeing trolley cars is the aim of the Oakland Traction and Key Route Companies, and the success of the project, which agents have been put to work in San Francisco bringing notice to the public of the departure, and the aid of the larger hotels, where many tourists top has been secured.

The following is the schedule of the sightseeing car.

Leaves the Key Route Inn at 10:10; from there along Telegraph avenue to Berkeley; returns to the Key Route Inn at 4 o'clock.

General Helen Evans and Leola Howard was omitted from the program as given Sunday, also instrumental selections by Ruth Dyson and Rachel Hunter.

Steamer and Barge Reach the Skaggs Bridge On the San Joaquin.

FRESNO, June 15.—Amid the enthusiastic cheers of fully four thousand men, women and children, mingled with the tooting of one hundred automobile horns and the siren of a strange vessel, the steamer J. R. McDonald, towing a large barge, well loaded with merchandise and freight, steamed up to the south bank of the San Joaquin river at Skaggs bridge, twenty miles northwest of Fresno at 11:45 o'clock this morning, the first boat to steam up that distance since 1867. With Captain McMurtry at the wheel, the steamer, the barge was out, loose and a score of men then began the task of unloading 100 tons of freight billed to Fresno merchants. There was much excitement over the fact that the remarkable river trip had been successfully completed and enthusiasm was high.

The Rhine and the Mississippi.

Recently a comparative statement was published showing that the tonnage transported on the Mississippi river is less than 1 per cent of the tonnage carried by boat and barge on the river Rhine, a much shorter stream, with fewer navigable tributaries. The comparison naturally provoked much comment, in which the government and the railroads came in for not a little blame.

But a further examination shows that the government and the railroads are not so blamable after all. The United States government has expended three times as much to improve the navigation of the Mississippi as the German government has spent improving the Rhine. The Mississippi flows away from the great centers of population and industry, reaching the sea by a channel that is unfavorably located for ocean commerce, shifting, uncertain and dangerous. During the Civil War this channel was allowed to fill up while traffic from the upper Mississippi valley sought the sea by east and west rail routes and the water route via the Great Lakes and the Erie canal. Because of the embargo of war, the commerce of New Orleans decayed and traffic was compelled to seek routes free from peril and obstruction.

On the other hand, the Rhine affords a direct route to the sea through the industrial heart of Germany. It was an established artery of commerce many centuries before the invention of the locomotive, and its mouths were the seats of a vast maritime commerce long before America was discovered. Those seats of trade remain and have grown in importance because they bring the drainage basin of the Rhine into close touch with the other great commercial marts of the world. Moreover, the government built railway systems of Germany were constructed as auxiliaries to the Rhine and not as rivals to it as a means of transport. Hence the building of railroads has increased water traffic on the German river instead of drawing from it, as the American railroads have done from the Mississippi.

But there is a still more potent reason why traffic on the Mississippi has declined and is relatively small compared to the traffic on the Rhine. American railroads carry freight much cheaper than do the German railways. The average cost of freight carriage by rail in Germany is nearly twice as high as in the United States. In the middle group of States comprising New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, Connecticut and Massachusetts and Ohio, the cost of rail carriage per ton is less than 50 per cent of the cost in Germany. All the navigable streams of consequence in the United States are paralleled by railroads. It is different in Germany. In this country the rail rates of transportation along the line of navigable rivers have been reduced to the lowest competitive point. This has been compelled by the law of necessity. To get the traffic formerly carried by water or likely to seek water routes, the railroads have been compelled to make rates so low as to be attractive and economical to shippers.

Naturally the railroads, prompted by self-interest, have discouraged traffic on the rivers. As a matter of policy they have not provided terminal facilities, on the rivers by which transshipment and interchange of freight could be made cheap and easy, but on the other hand, they have made exceedingly low rates to foster rail traffic.

Geographical and political reasons also have a part in making the Rhine the important trade thoroughfare that it is. Germany only fronts the sea on the north. The Rhine flows to the north. It rises in Switzerland and enters the sea in Holland. The German cities on its banks could only maintain their commercial supremacy by keeping the Rhine open to traffic and using it as a vehicle of commerce. It gives them cheap freight rates and a short cut to the sea, besides direct water communication with the maritime cities of North Germany, the Baltic seaports and the maritime centers of England, France and Spain. The situation is altogether different when we come to the Mississippi. The short route it gives the central and lower sections of the Mississippi valley is handicapped by the longer sea voyage to reach the leading ports of the world. For instance, it is nearly twice as far by sea from New Orleans to Liverpool as it is from New York to that port.

Nevertheless there are evidences of a revival of water traffic on the Mississippi and its tributaries. A boat and barge line has been established between Kansas City and St. Louis, and another one between St. Louis and New Orleans. The lower valley is settling up and the large cities are growing up on the banks of the Mississippi below St. Louis. The opening of the Panama canal will renew the importance of the Mississippi as a trade route, for it will afford an all-water highway from the upper Mississippi valley to the Orient and South America—a route that will be shorter, cheaper and more direct than any other avenue of commerce. But in any event the Mississippi is a salutary regulator of freight rates for the inhabitants of the great central valley of the United States. If it does not carry the freight it keeps down the cost of carriage.

"Oakland is now demanding that the exposition be held on its side of the bay," says the Chico Enterprise. Oakland is demanding nothing of the kind. As the San Franciscans are quarreling as to which of two ineligible sites shall be selected, Oakland magnanimously offered a splendid site free of cost. Moreover, this city offered to put the site in condition for building construction at its own expense. But the offer was declined without thanks. We have demanded nothing, expected nothing, and we have received all we demanded or expected. But we are happy and are boasting for the exposition just the same. Still we would like to turn the hose on the wrangling-disputants in San Francisco. We would like to start something besides a fight or a fire.

The Mystery of a Painter's Bill.

Did you ever see a big dog jumping around, barking and growling, and in various ways giving evidences of astonishment, alarm, anger and curiosity; and investigate only to find that all the manifestations were provoked by a small black bug, perhaps an inch long, perfectly quiescent and inoffensive? This is a demonstration with which every country boy is familiar. It illustrates the antics of Congress over the small mystery of the bill for painting the picture of former Secretary of State Day. Congress appropriated $2460 to pay for that picture, but the artist received only $850 for his work, although he receipted for the entire sum. What became of the balance? The transaction took place during the administration of Colonel Roosevelt, when Hon. Elihu Root, now Senator from New York, was Secretary of State. There is no reason to suppose that the money was dishonestly appropriated; on the contrary, the circumstances indicate that it was used to pay for some special service for which no provision had been made, and which prudence dictated should leave no record.

Every person acquainted with diplomatic affairs knows that governments find it necessary to have certain services secretly performed which they are not willing to avow or leave any recorded evidence of, services which they politely profess to hold in appropriate contempt, but which are continually employed by the ministries of every civilized nation. These services must be paid for, but no vouchers must be presented specifying their nature or who performed them. Hence tricks of ledgerdom in accounting are resorted to to cover up and conceal them.

That appears to be the solution of the mystery presented by the voucher for painting the Day picture. It is but a small affair at best, but Congress is playing with it much after the fashion of the big dog capering around the small bug. Congress is curious. It wants to look at the wheels of the clock from the inside. Nobody believes anyone has stolen anything, that President Roosevelt or Secretary Root was privy to a contemptible graft. What Congress really wants to find out is the character of the service which was compensated with the missing $1600. It wants to know who got the money and what was done in return for it. But the details of the transaction have apparently escaped the attention of everybody concerned in it, hence the curiosity of Congress is not likely to be gratified.

That is about the sum and substance of the matter. Whether it is serious depends upon the point of view. There is a lot of pompous fooling over the affair, but we suspect that the gentlemen who are making such diligent efforts to unravel the mystery know much more about the affair than they pretend, and that the officials of the State Department are better advised than they are willing to admit. It is a case where it is wise to be ignorant. That is why the big dog is left to frisk and bark in a fury of ponderous indignation over the little black bug it has found in the grass. It is one of the creeping things of diplomacy that will crawl into its hole as soon as the excitement has subsided.

It should be understood that Chester H. Rowell is not an unthrifty person. He is not uplifting for his health. He believes the laborer is worthy of his hire and is not "scabbing" in the reform vineyard. He delivered an address on "Good Citizenship" before the pupils of the Berkeley high school and has sent in a bill for $50 to the trustees. Some reactionary has remarked that the price is "fifty plunks for fifty platitudes." That is cheap enough. Mr. Rowell is a man of true genius. He is one of the few men of our day and generation who can make a platitude shine like the spark of true wisdom. He has copyrighted old apothegms as new and original discoveries, has trademarked the Ten Commandments as a personal belonging, and possibly obeys one or two of them. He is altogether a remarkable person. He is the Boswell of a Pecksniff and has furnished the subject for his biography. It will be a shame not to pay him the fifty he asks, even if he did deliver the same address to the pupils of the Visalia high school. Uplifting may come a little high, but we must have it. The lesson taught by Baalam's ass still impresses mankind.

The farmers of No. 11 Wall street are still wailing pitiously against the reciprocity bill. Evidently Senator Bristow has heard the cry of distress, for he has extended a helping hand in the shape of amendment that is in the nature of a knockout drop. Bristow inveighed fiercely against the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, but when reciprocity with Canada was proposed he had conviction fits over the attempt to break down the protective system. He accused Uncle Joe Cannon of undue friendship for the paper combine and the wood-pulp monopoly, and now he is himself standing stanchly for the tariff graft of those hungry twins. Having shown them how formidable he can be, as an enemy, he is now proving how serviceable he can be as a friend.

WEARING AWAY OF EARTH

Investigations by the United States geological survey of the erosion of numerous drainage basins of the United States show that the surface of the country is being removed at the average rate of about an inch in 70 years. Through this amount seems trivial when spread over the surface of the country, it becomes stupendous when considered as a total, or even in separate drainage basins. Mississippi river, for instance, carries annually to the sea 130,000,000 tons of dissolved matter and 340,000,000 tons of suspended matter, and of this total Ohio river carries 83,350,000 tons and Missouri river contributes more than twice as much. Colorado river, which has built up for itself a vast delta, brings down more suspended matter than any other river in the United States, delivering an-

20 YEARS AGO IN OAKLAND

Supervisor D. W. Martin, City Trustee Stephenson and Dr. G. P. Reynolds will leave Alameda Wednesday on a trip into the interior of the State, to be gone three weeks.

Newton Benedict, a well known real estate dealer of this city, was married in Stockton a few days ago to Miss Nina Russell, recently from Memphis, Tennessee.

Among the Oakland residents who are at present traveling in different parts of the State are: M. Buckley, Miss M. Coates, H. T. Smith, C. H. Nor, A. M. Thompson, J. F. Wright, W. B. Hall, H. A. Luttrell, J. C. Koop, Alameda; Miss Rosa May, L. W. Kennedy, Miss Emma Buck, Mrs. W. Sovereign and daughter, N. Benedict, J. B. McChesney, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Miss Ethel M. Allen of Henry street celebrated the tenth anniversary of her birthday by giving a party to a number of friends at her home.

At the residence of Mrs. C. E. Kinney, her daughter, Mary Webster Kinney, and Charles A. Kinney were united in marriage on Thursday last.

In the large parlors of the Oriental House, Miss Minnie Walker and Orrin F. Turner were quietly united in marriage yesterday morning.

Whenever Oaklanders go abroad they should make it their habit to sing the praises of the city. Well people of the life and activity that are prevailing here. Have a word to say about recent and contemplated improvements. Talk a little usefully in the hotel corridors, for in this way every citizen will be a walking advertisement for the city.

On Thursday evening last a pretty wedding took place in East Oakland, when Fred C. Weeks and Miss Effie C. Burley were married by the Rev. H. S. Heacock of the First Avenue Methodist Church.

On Friday evening last the marriage of Miss Fanny Fox and Lawson McCulloch was solemnized by Rev. Heacock. Both the young people are well known in East Oakland.

SURPRISED THE BISHOP.

In addition to being tall and portly, and upping the scales at 300 pounds, or in that immediate vicinity, Bishop Noyes of New England enjoys a good story, and he appreciates it just as heartily when the joke is at his expense. Therefore he tells with much pleasure a story of how he was surprised while taking a stroll in a park. After walking for some time he decided to rest for a few moments, and seated himself on a bench that had an unusually deep dip. Finally, feeling sufficiently rested, he essayed to rise from the deep bottomed seat, and the effort proved too much on the first attempt, owing to his generous proportions. A little girl had been watching him closely, and when he again made an effort to rise she stepped forward and said: "Give me your hand, mister, I'll help you to get up."

"Why, indeed, child, you have not strength enough to help a man as big as I am," was the amused bishop's reply.

"Oh, yes I have," responded the little girl. "I've pulled papa up many a time when he's drunker than you are."—Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph.

Oakley The Best Tract

The Cheapest
Adjoining the Famous Wheatland Hop Fields at Wheatland, the Delta Spot of the Famous Sacramento Valley.

To be able to buy land in California at from $75 to $150 per acre is cheap, but to be able to buy choice farming land in any sized tract from ten acres up in California, where the property not only is within twenty minutes of the conveniences of the city, combined with the advantages of the farm, and is within twenty minutes of the county seat, also within an hour's ride of Sacramento, one of California's largest cities, at the above prices, is not only cheap but is a very desirable feature. OAKLEY TRACT, however, has this very desirable feature, besides many others too numerous to mention. Read on, it will pay you.

Soil: The soil at Oakley Tract is considered by government experts to be about the best soil in the entire State, making this property what might be termed the cream of California.

Climate: In addition to the excellent soil the climatic conditions are ideal, it being possible to grow the finest of fruits, melons, berries, etc., besides alfalfa, corn, hops and like products in abundance. The products grown in this section are always extremely early in the season and therefore benefit by high prices.

Location: Oakley Tract enjoys unexcelled shipping accommodations, both by rail and water, and is within easy access of the fast-growing cities bordering the San Francisco Bay. High school, churches and other standard walking distance of the property.

Can you imagine anything better in country lands where the splendid roads are already installed and where the land itself is already demonstrated to be of the highest class? We recommend Oakley Tract, because it is second to no other property in the State. We are selling the property on very easy terms to reliable people. Call or write this office for additional information and illustrated booklet. It will interest you.

COUNTRY LANDS IN STATE OF CALIFORNIA ARE JUST LIKE READY MONEY

FARM, ORCHARD AND VINEYARD YIELD WEALTH TO THE TILLERS OF THE SOIL

MAN WITH HOE HAS THE DOUGH

Adds Millions of Dollars Each Year to the State's Bank Account.

Back-to-the-Farm Idea Is Paying Investment, Not a Joke.

Anyone finding diversion in the opinion that the "Back to the farm" idea is a joke, and that "The Man with the Hoe" is an anachronism, should journey by automobile or other vehicle through the agricultural districts of California. After viewing the wealth of the land, if the obsession still remains, the case is hopeless and the individual a candidate for Dr. Dippy's Retreat. The varied climates and soil conditions of this state lend themselves to the production of plants and trees indigenous to many other climes, thereby affording the agriculturist a diversity in the selection of seed and sowing which does not fall to the lot of his fellows at other points.

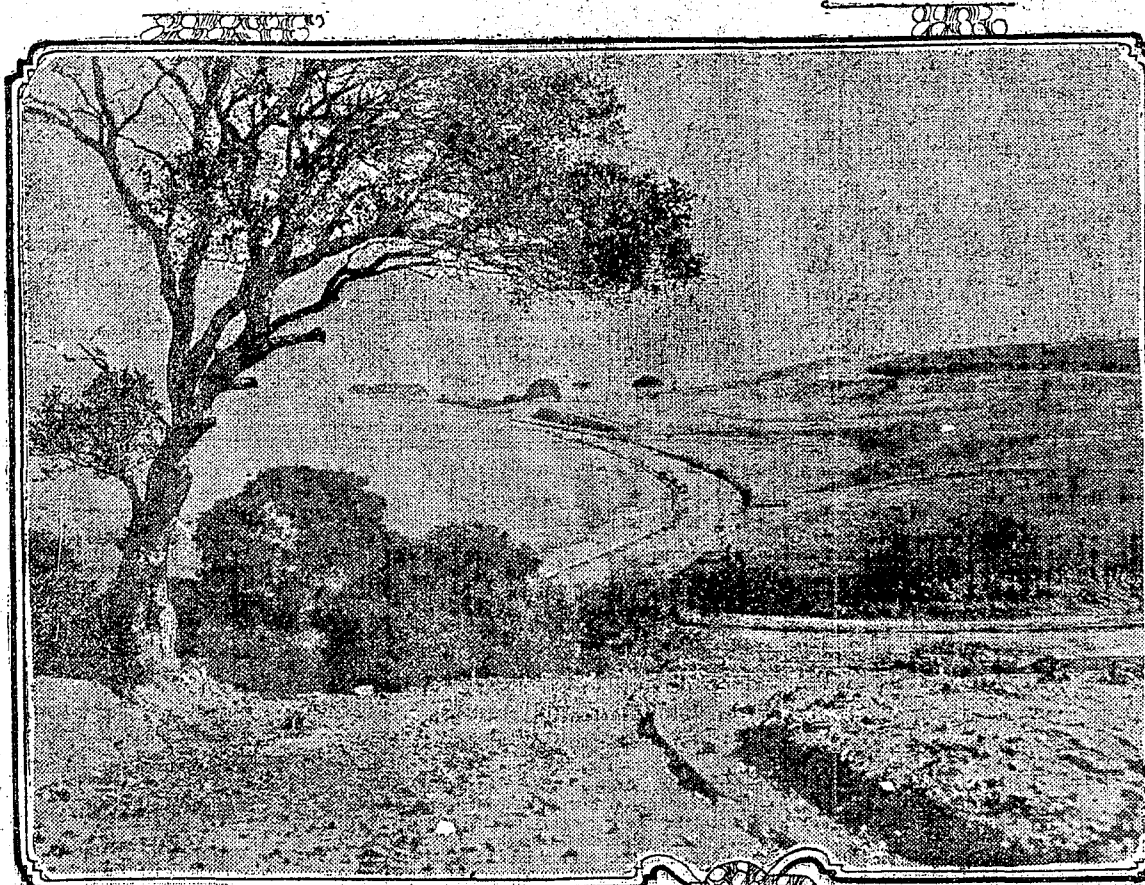

Appreciating the varied money-making opportunities of California farm and orchard lands and the ready response of the soil to intelligent methods of tillage, vineyardists, orchardists and agriculturists are flocking to the state from the four corners of the world and are colonizing its broad acres with a self-respecting, self-supporting population which mints from the products of the soil millions of dollars annually. These persons are not leaden-headed, leaden-hearted individuals worn to the bone by a battle to compel parsimonious acres to yield them a scant subsistence. No, they are as virile as the land they till, and are quite as keen-intellectually and physically as the dweller in cities. The skeptically inclined need but to measure wits with them to have any doubt they may entertain as to the basic truth of the preceding assertion most successfully and completely removed.

HOW RAILROADS HELP.

The assistance rendered by the railroads in the colonizing of California is hardly to be overestimated. Rapid transit facilities have made the market and the farm neighbors, and where they are lacking, good roads serve well instead. Both enter largely into the proposition insofar as Alameda, Contra Costa and adjacent counties are concerned, thereby setting the double purpose of hastening the products of the farm, fresh and crisp, to the city man's breakfast table, and affording to such of the latter as may desire, the delights of suburban residence with the business of his urban hours conveniently at hand. Because of this juxtaposition of city and country, suburban lands in the vicinity of Oakland, San Francisco, Sacramento and other large and growing California communities are being laid off in tracts of from one-quarter to ten acres and are meeting with a ready sale.

Recognizing the growing desire of the city man to seek respite at the close of the day from business cares amid rural scenes, the railroads having their suburban terminals in Oakland are fostering that desire and are making it more generally possible by extending their local lines farther into the suburbs and by Improving transportation facilities. The Oakland Traction Company recently taken over by the $200,000,000 United Properties Company, is doing likewise, and in furtherance of the plan will soon begin double-tracking its San Pablo avenue line to the city of Richmond. The tracks of the Oakland and Antioch railroad are being extended across Contra Costa county Oaklandward with all possible dispatch, and before the close of the current year over them will be hastening to market the products of Contra Costa's fertile acres. The line of the San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose railway, now being extended toward San Jose, will serve the purpose by tapping the rich farm lands of Alameda county.

PRODIGALITY OF NATURE.

At no point in California is nature more prodigal with her gifts than in the vicinity of Oakland. The landscapes there, fashioned of rare artistic beauty and have for a background thousands of acres of arable land. The area offers exceptional and diversified money-making opportunities to the husbandman, and an especial effort is being made to attract home-seekers thereto. The real estate men of Oakland are lending their best efforts to that end and are receiving the co-operation and support of the business men of Hayward, San Leandro, San Lorenzo, Union City, Fremont, Pleasanton, Newark and other suburban towns in Alameda county. The lands adjacent to these towns are being subdivided, thus affording opportunity for the intensive farming of some of the most fertile areas in this state. As an illustration of the fitness of Alameda county farm areas for the case of Manual B. Perry of Irvington and Oakley is cited. Mr. Perry's consignments of asparagus this season totaled 750 crates. It required 65 refrigerator cars to transport the appetizing edible to the eastern and other markets.

Nearer Oakland the land is being subdivided into smaller tracts and sold for suburban residence sites. Much of the land thus laid off is covered with bearing orchards of cherries, pears, apricots and other fruits and is, therefore, self-supporting. As a result, the person who establishes a home on one of these tracts can, by the exercise of reasonable diligence and intelligence, market the fruit crop on his acreage for a sum sufficient to pay the annual installments on the place. If he paid for the place outright, so much the better, for in that event he can bank the fruit money as a nestegg. Either way he will whipsaw the turn—catches 'em going and coming, as it were.

ARTISTIC VILLA SITES.

At Cherryland, a subdivision of the old Meek estate at Hayward, for instance, a purchaser of a five-acre tract has contracted with the local cannery people for the sale of the cherry yield on his place for a period of five years at 5 cents per pound. Among others who have purchased villa sites in Cherryland are E. W. Burr, former president of the Alameda Sugar Refining Company, who is erecting a cement house of 15 rooms, garage and conservatory. Mrs. Burr intends utilizing the latter for the propagation of more than forty varieties of orchids; Clarence Reed, the Oakland attorney, who will erect an eight-room bungalow; Lewis Roth, a well-known artist of New York city; Rev. G. W. Bradley of Newport, R. I.; E. J. Merritt, the wholesale grocer, and W. J. Cleve, a capitalist of Alameda.

In the vicinity of San Leandro are a number of subdivisions in which artistic suburban homes are being erected. The Gansberger orchard tract, by reason of its proximity to Oakland, is proving particularly attractive to wage earners and many pretty little homes are being built there. The Stone estate, subdivided and placed on the market somewhere about a twelvemonth ago, is in demand for suburban residence purposes, and the sites thereon are meeting with a ready sale. Lucywood, formerly the old homestead of the Frey heirs, is another subdivision nearby Oakland in which suburban residence sites are in demand and meet with quick sale. And so it goes, all the way up and down the line between Oakland and Hayward—plenty of home-seekers finding plenty of elbow room amid country surroundings and with the convenience of rapid transit facilities at their thresholds.

A WORD ABOUT NEWARK.

The Alameda county town of Newark is destined to become a point of great importance in transcontinental railway circles. Matters are already shaping to that end, due to the initiative of the Southern Pacific Company, whose management is arranging to establish there the main car and repair shops of its western system. Newark, San Francisco, Oakland and real estate men at other points are keenly alive to the metropolitan possibilities of Newark and are taking time by the forelock, so to speak, by purchasing in advance of the boom large parcels of land contiguous to the townsite as at present laid out. Certain portions of these holdings are being placed on the market at this time—just enough to insure the investment—and the remainder is to be held to await the marked appreciation in property values the realty men contend will follow the establishment of the S. P. shops at that point. It is also to insure the investment and the remainder is to be held to await the marked appreciation in property values the realty men contend will follow the establishment of the S. P. shops at that point. It is also to insure the investment and the remainder is to be held to await the marked appreciation in property values the realty men contend will follow the establishment of the S. P. shops at that point.

Only a few days ago a syndicate of San Francisco men purchased for $150,000 a tract of 560 acres adjoining the 750 acres recently acquired at Newark by the Southern Pacific Company for yard and shop purposes. A model townsite is to be laid out at once and the lots placed on sale. The plans call for well-spaced and magnificently landscaped streets, broad sidewalks, electric light, water and sewer systems and other improvements which pertain to modern life. Factoria is the name selected for the new town, which is to be modeled along lines similar to the city of Pullman, Ill., with the paternal proposition omitted. A park is to be laid out therein, the streets are to be tree-planted and the lots sold at prices well within reach of the wage-earner. Adjoining the townsite the promoters have reserved an acreage that is to be Investment values of these properties. The opening of these valleys by the Oakland & Antioch Electric Railway will mean much to the bay cities from a suburban home site point of view, and the development of this section within the next three or four years is believed beyond conception at the present time. In addition to the construction of the Oakland & Antioch Electric Railway, the main roads of the county are to be improved, an automobile boulevard built up Mount Diablo, many large country homesites are being developed and attractive hotels being constructed.

SACRAMENTO VALLEY.

An important event in the development of the Sacramento valley has just taken place. Herbert Fleischacker, Alameda County assessor, Mortimer Fleischacker, W. E. Gerber and other California capitalists, who constructed the Central California traction line between Sacramento and Stockton, have just consummated a deal for the colony of their large holdings along their electric railroad.

The land which is to be offered to the public is known as the Central California Traction Colonies, lays about halfway between Sacramento and Stockton, and consists of 15,000 acres of as fine land as can be found in the Sacramento valley.

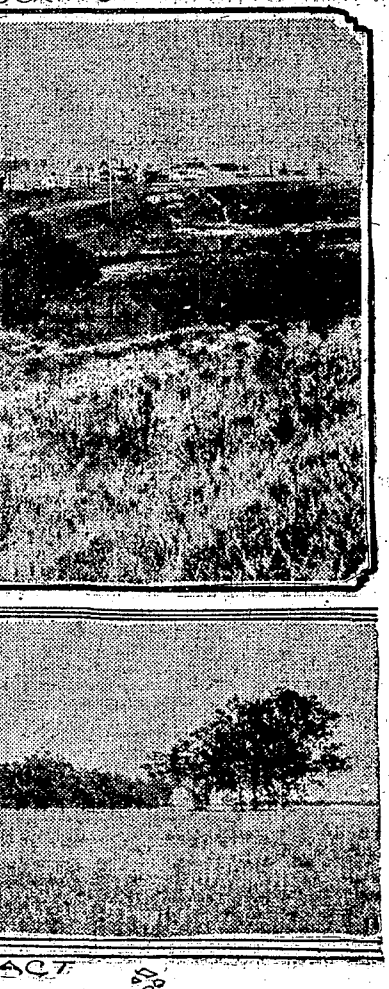

The owners of this choice piece of farming land are all wealthy Sacramento and San Francisco bankers and business men. They have invested several million dollars in their new electric interurban railroad and to make it a paying investment they must bring settlers into the district and place them on the land through which their railway runs.

SEEKING FARMERS.

Recognizing this fact, they will offer every inducement to the man who will come and cultivate the soil. They want farmers, not for any profit they may make from selling them the land, but for the ultimate business it will bring to their railroad.

With this object in view they have instructed their agent to co-operate with the purchaser of land in this colony in every way—help him get settled, show him how to plant his crops, give him the services of expert agriculturists, if necessary build him home for him and advise him where and when to sell his products—make him a success from the start.

NAPA VALLEY LANDS.

Land in the Napa valley, especially around Napa City, can be purchased at far below prices that prevail elsewhere. The fine quality of the soil cannot be duplicated and water in abundance is obtained at a depth of from 25 to 30 feet. Agriculture is in a very flourishing condition, as is attested by the magnificent orchards of peaches, apricots, pears, cherries and apples, alfalfa yielding large crops without irrigation and vineyards unexcelled in the state. Chicken raising is also a large industry which is increasing rapidly. Transportation facilities are everything that could be desired, the rate on freight being at a minimum.

Napa City and its suburbs has a population of 12,000 persons, and this alone constitutes a big market for produce raised in the vicinity, apart from the market of San Francisco and Oakland. It also has a large manufacturing district, comprising glove, shoe, shirt factories, canneries, creameries, breweries and wineries. The real estate firm of S.

JUDICIARY RECALL DEBATED AT CLUB

The Proposed Amendment Discussed Pro and Con by Many Speakers.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—The proposed constitutional amendment for the recall of the judiciary was the subject of a lively debate at the Commonwealth Club banquet held in the colonial ballroom of the Hotel St. Francis last night. Prominent statesmen and distinguished members of the bar were present to defend or oppose the issue in eloquent and convincing speeches.

Mayor Beverly Hodgeshead of Berkeley presided over the debate, which dealt with every phase of the controversy from the argumentative standpoint, and which, following an early evening banquet, lasted from 8 o'clock until nearly midnight. Governor Johnson, who was to have spoken in favor of the amendment, and Charles S. Wheeler, one of its opponents, were unable to be present.

Those who spoke as advocates of the amendment were: Assemblyman W. C. Clark of Oakland, State Senator Lee C. Gates of Los Angeles, Francis J. Honey and Dr. John R. Haynes of Los Angeles, father of the original recall.

Opposed to the measure were William Denman, Robert M. Fitzgerald of Oakland, and Warren Olney, Jr. Denman spoke twice during the argument and delivering the rebuttal.

CLASH IN ARGUMENT.

Denman and Gates clashed during the progress of the latter's argument. When Denman interrupted to call attention to the proposed amendment providing for an appointive railroad commission with no recall as compared with the judiciary recall amendment. Gates responded that the Governor could be recalled if the commission he had appointed was corrupt, and, so, by inference, the commission itself could be removed.

R. M. Fitzgerald, during his argument in opposition to the measure, asked the question: "Shall we remove judges from office for not interpreting the laws to suit the legislature, when these men mean that they don't know what their own laws mean?"

Senator Clark opened his argument in behalf of the proposed amendment by summarizing its provisions and claiming that its adoption would save the state the expense of making the task of the judiciary a corrupt public official in the courts.

URBANITES SEEKING FARMS.

There never before was a time in the history of California when people living in the city were so desirous of securing a country home as at the present time. As an illustration of this fact, W. E. Johnson, manager of the country department of Taylor Bros. & Co., of this city, states that during the past two weeks they have sold eight or ten farms of from 10 to 20 irrigated acres, near Oakland, in what is known as the Gilmar colony. This tract of land lies in the new irrigation district which was formed something like a year ago. Oakland, which is within a short distance of the tract, is a thriving, prosperous city of about 3000 inhabitants, and from present indications reports it will double its population within the next year. The tract is a short distance from the city, and the present time affords splendid transportation and shipping facilities for those purchasing land in the Gilmar colony.

The colony which is being formed there on a co-operative basis of ownership is described as the co-operative colony. Most of the people expect to remain in town for a year or two until they get their land pretty well paid for, and in the meantime it will be cropped, and each man will share in proportion to the number of acres which he purchases. This colony is moving along so nicely that Taylor Bros. contemplate putting on the market another tract in Alameda county of choice level land near Sunol.

AVERS ORDER OF BIBLE IS WRONG

The Count Vladimir Gelesnoff Startles Rockhurst Prayer Conference.

Count Vladimir Gelesnoff, late of Russia, who is in attendance at the Rockhurst prayer and bible conference for the Pacific Coast being held in the First Presbyterian Church in this city, sprung a surprise at yesterday afternoon's meeting when he declared that the order of the Bible was wrong and that the names of a great many of the different books had been altered until they did not give correct meaning to their contents.

Since his expulsion from the Czar's domain upon his withdrawal from the Greek church 15 years ago, Count Gelesnoff, who is a descendant of an imperial prince and member of a prominent St. Petersburg family, has devoted his time to the study of the Bible in Hebrew, Greek and English, with the result that he would have the books of the old testament altered as follows:

Genesis—Book of the Beginnings.
Exodus—Book of Names.
Leviticus—Book of the Calling.
Numbers—Book of the Wilderness.
Deuteronomy—Book of God's Words.
Kings—Kings David.
Psalms—Psalms.
Lamentations—How.

Chronicles—Words of Days.
After the meeting yesterday he said in explanation of a number of his statements to the delegates:

"I have often marveled why no one has started a movement to restore the Bible so that it would be restored to its old and correct form.
"Many of its books are not only misnamed, but there are a lack of logical sequence and much error in its arrangement.
"The error was committed 300 years before Christ, when the Old Testament was translated from the original Hebrew into Greek.
"Count Gelesnoff picked up the Prophets this afternoon in the same way he discussed the books of the law.

WEBBER AND TRAINED HATS CREATE LAUGHTER AT BELL

CHARLES D. WEBBER, comedy juggler at Bell Theater.

FLAG DAY CELEBRATED WITH WHIST TOURNEY

An entertainment in the nature of a whist tourney and a dance was given by Brooklyn Parlor 151 and 157, Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West, in observance of flag day, when more than 200 guests were entertained, two lodge rooms being utilized to accommodate them. The whist tourney was the magnet of attraction for many of those who were present and more than twenty tables were pressed into service to accommodate the players. During the evening refreshments were dispensed and a splendid list of prizes were awarded, terminating the evening's festivities. The members who were instrumental in making the affair a success were Nellie de Blots, Sadie Deasy, Margaret Roach and Minnie Jackson of Brooklyn Parlor of Native Daughters; Wm. J. de Blots, Charles Jacoby, George Moffitt, Charles Jordan, J. J. Mulgrew and Ed. Kennison of Brooklyn Parlor of Native Sons.

BIPLANE PROPELLER CUTS OFF HIS HAND

VALLEJO, June 15.—Paul Butler, a well-known motor boat enthusiast and amateur aviator, lost his left hand while experimenting with the propeller on the biplane he is constructing for flights at Antioch on July 4. Butler had recently installed a new high-speed engine, and the propeller was making 200 revolutions a minute when the aviator's hand was caught. The arm was severed at the wrist, and both bones in the forearm broken.

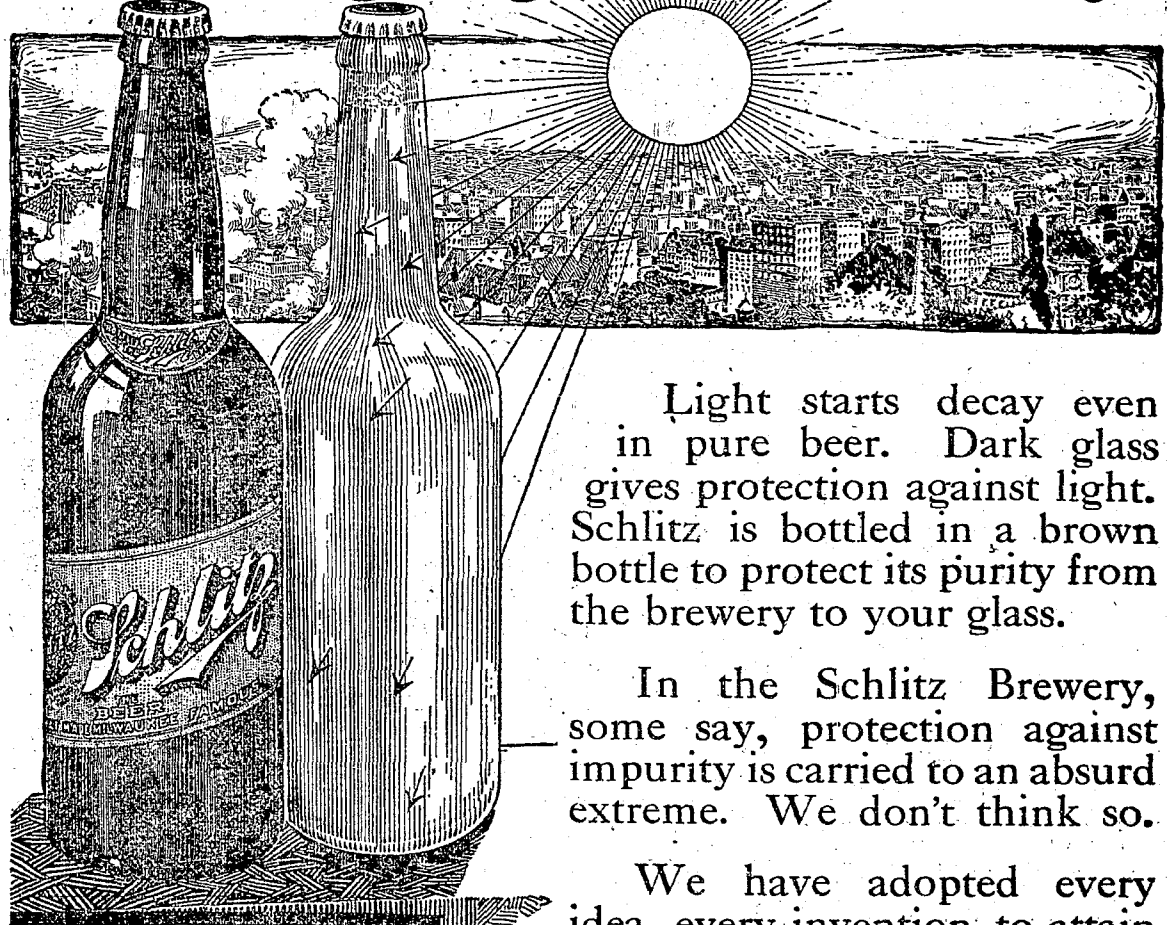

FEAR AMERICAN INVASION.
ST. PETERSBURG, June 15.—The Novoe Vremya is devoting much attention to reported plans of American agricultural interests to invade Manchuria. In a leading article it bitterly attacks American representatives in the Far East and asserts that the recent loan to China was a covert rescue operation of Secretary Knox's proposal for the neutralization of the Manchurian railways.

Charles D. Webber, comedian juggler, with a freak automobile and what he calls his "highly trained troupe of tame hats," is a feature of the Bell show this week. Webber has juggled and laughed his way twice around the world and is on his way for the third time. It is his first tour in popular vaudeville, however, and that he will make more than good in variety is evidenced by his big hit this week. Webber's last British appearance was at Buckingham Palace at the command of Queen Mary, so you can judge of the caliber of the act. Of Patricia's ability as an actress, who is here in "The Lobbyist," there is need to say nothing. Her reputation is national. She has associated with her players especially selected for the di-cult parts assigned to them. "The Lobbyist" is a tale of the political life of the national capital, involving a young Western Congressman and a woman lobbyist, set by "the interests" to capture his vote, for certain venal measures, no matter what methods she may find necessary to pursue. The climax hangs upon her sudden and dramatic change of heart and purpose. La Angella, and a big black Teddy bear sing and dance the popular dance measures, while Powell and Rose furnish their quota of fun in a humorous black face act.

It is difficult to imagine ten big white Polar bears, all of them as tractable as so many house kittens and just as ready for a frolic, yet that is what Herr Adolph Albers has with him this week, in one of the biggest and best animal acts ever known to vaudeville. These big, burly, snow-white discoverers of the North Pole do a variety of stunts really remarkable, and as an added attraction Herr Albers promises to give them a big feed during the matinee Saturday, so one can imagine the thine of the bears' ten tons of Teddies are at their porridge. Mueller and Mueller have a repertoire of Broadway's latest hits that they produce in real Broadway style. It is as good a singing act as you ever heard anywhere. Get the Bell habit.

Stopping Light Stops Decay

Light starts decay even in pure beer. Dark glass gives protection against light. Schlitz is bottled in a brown bottle to protect its purity from the brewery to your glass.

In the Schlitz Brewery, some say, protection against impurity is carried to an absurd extreme. We don't think so.

We have adopted every idea, every invention to attain and preserve purity.

We scald every tub, keg and barrel—every pipe and pump—every time we use it. We wash every bottle four times by machinery. Even the air in which the beer is cooled is filtered.

It is aged for months in glass enameled tanks. It cannot cause biliousness. It will not ferment in your stomach.

If you knew what we know about beer, you would say, "Schlitz—Schlitz in Brown Bottles."

Biliousness

Sallow Skin, Bad Taste, Headache

You're bilious, you have a throbbing sensation in your head, a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes burn, your skin is yellow with dark rings under your eyes, your lips are parched. No wonder you feel ugly, mean and ill-tempered. Your system is full of bile not properly passed off, and what you need is a cleaning up inside. Don't continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you, and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. DESPITE RAINS NEW YORK HAS WATER FAMINE

NEW YORK, June 15.—The heavy rainfalls which have visited New York during the last few days have merely prevented a possible water famine and have by no means solved the vexed question of the city's water supply for the summer according to a statement from the water supply department. The statement says: "The water on hand in the reservoirs today is about half the amount that we had on hand at this time last year. This fact alone shows that the crisis is not passed."

She will register in the College of Commerce and will major in domestic science. SEEK TEACHERS FOR PRESTON SCHOOL OF INDUSTRY

To equip the academic department of the Preston School of Industry with a larger corps of teachers, who will instruct in the various branches of study is the ambition of Laverne L. Freeman, principal of the school.

The superintendent of the school recently voiced his sentiment, approving the recommendation of Principal Freeman to enlarge the academic department. He said:

"Place these boys in school at once and remember that all else here is second to the school."

The boys are divided into several classes so far as educational attainments are concerned. One class comes from the home of refinement, where the early years of his school life were carefully guarded by watchful parents and competent teachers. The next class is composed of boys from the homes where it is necessary for the parents to put forth every effort to make a living for the family, thus neglecting the culture and education of the child.

The third and large class is composed of the boys who have wasted every opportunity afforded them, preferring a life of wickedness and idleness. Under the present system a boy is given an examination when he enters the institution and if a vacancy exists in the school he is at once assigned to the place. He comes in contact with teachers who require absolute obedience, habits of study, care of personal appearance and other forms of discipline tending to cultivate the manly spirit of every boy.

COLLEGE BUILDING TO BE DEDICATED

Mayor Mott and Others Will Speak in New Polytechnic Engineering Home.

Dedication exercises will be held at the new home of the Polytechnic College of Engineering, Thirteenth and Madison streets, tomorrow evening. A musical and literary program has been arranged by the committee in charge. Many well known speakers will be heard in short addresses on topics of the day and on the growth of this school since its start.

At the time the school was first opened in 1900, on the top floor of the old Y. M. C. A. building, the student list numbered four, while the equipment consisted of a motor, a lathe, one dynamo, a few chairs and a table. The engineering courses proved popular and the classes soon grew to large proportions. In due time the college had outgrown the quarters and the new building at Twelfth and Harrison was built. Soon the classes began to make demands on this large structure and the directors were forced to look elsewhere. This new building is one of the best constructed schools in the State and the most beautiful in Oakland.

The program will be as follows:
1. Invocation Dr. T. A. Boyer
2. Violin solo Mr. Erwin Maerker
3. Introductory remarks H. C. Ingram, superintendent
4. College ideals W. W. Fogg, principal
5. Industrial Education Prof. A. W. Miller
6. The Student Body F. T. Gash
7. Vocal solo Edgar S. Williamson
8. Addresses:
W. E. Gibson, president; Hon. Frank K. Mott, Mayor of Oakland; H. C. Capwell, Chamber of Commerce; Geo. W. Frick, County Superintendent of Schools; J. W. McClymonds, City Superintendent of Schools; A. A. Jensen, secretary Chamber of Commerce; Wilbur Walker, secretary Merchants' Exchange.

BIG BAKING COMBINE EFFECTED IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, June 15.—The General Baking Company was incorporated yesterday as a combination of twenty-one concerns engaged in bread and general baking business. The merger is the first since the decisions in the Standard Oil and Tobacco cases, and the incorporators took pains to disclaim any intention of violating the law as construed. They say there is no purpose or thought of the establishment of a monopoly in the manufacture and sale of bread. The real purpose of the company, it is claimed, is progressive through the advantage of wise buying of materials, employment of economics, scientific and up-to-date methods of manufacturing, and by its extensive advertising system it proposes to educate the public to a higher standard of quality in bread. The company has an authorized capitalization of $10,000,000 common and $10,000,000 cumulative preferred stock, $5,000,000 first and refunding mortgage 6 per cent bonds.

The most valuable accessions are from the purchase of the collections of the late General Dr. Cesnola, numbering 1700 pieces; the Marquand collection and the Graue of 5000 pieces, lent by J. Pierpont Morgan. Every period of ancient glass-making from 1400 B. C. to A. D. 500 is represented. QUETLY MARRIED.

PLAN SECOND ATTEMPT TO SCALE MCKINLEY

LOS ANGELES, June 15.—Dr. Hershell Clifford Parker, vice president of the Explorers' Club, from which Dr. Cook, once its president, was expelled, is in Los Angeles for a few days before starting on his third attempt to reach the top of Mount McKinley.

On the second of his former attempts Dr. Parker disproved the claims of Dr. Cook that he had planted the American flag on the summit, and on the expedition about to begin Dr. Parker said he had hopes of being successful in reaching the top of the mountain, which is said to be 10,000 feet higher than any other on the American continent.

Unless it is determined that Mrs. Parker, a bride, will be able to stand the trip, there will be only four members of the exploring party. Besides Dr. Parker, they will be Belmont Brown, Merle Lavoie, and Arthur Alter, all of whom were members of the Arctic expedition last summer when Dr. Parker made his second attempt to scale Mount McKinley. Dr. Parker will start north soon to arrange for supplies, dogs and Indians, and meet the other members of his party.

RAILROAD TO TEST FULL CREW LAW

Northern Pacific Defies State of Washington to Prosecute.

TACOMA, Wash., June 15.—The full-crew law for all railroads operating in the state of Washington, is attacked as an "arbitrary and unreasonable exercise of power," and a request made for an injunction against the Civil Service Commission of the state, the attorney general and prosecuting attorney of five different counties, in a suit begun in the United States Circuit court here by the Northern Pacific railway. Through its local officials' wholesale violations of the law, which went into effect last Thursday, confessed, and the state practically is defied to enforce the measure until the court first rules on its constitutionality.

It is the contention of the railway company that to comply with the law, would cost $185,000 additional a year in its operating expenses. This amount, it is declared, would grow larger with each succeeding year.

"The company asserts rights, privileges and immunities under the United States Constitution," states the complaint, and cites the various officials named to appear August 7 at Seattle and show reason why they should be permanently restrained from enforcing the statutes.

The officials who are restrained are: H. A. Fairchild, John C. Lawrence and Jesse S. Jones, composing the Public Service Commission; W. V. Tanner, attorney general; John F. Murphy, prosecuting attorney of King county; J. L. McMurray, prosecuting attorney of Pierce county; F. W. Temples, prosecuting attorney of Clark county; George W. Bowna, prosecuting attorney of Coville county; J. R. Buxton, prosecuting attorney of Lewis county.

In crossing Newhall creek, Wells and his horse were swept away as his companions stood by helpless.

With the advent of warm weather, the union with which Wells was affiliated resumed the search.

The casket in which the body was sent home was carried six miles over the mountain trails by the searching party.

TACOMA, Wash., June 15.—The full-crew law for all railroads operating in the state of Washington, is attacked as an "arbitrary and unreasonable exercise of power," and a request made for an injunction against the Civil Service Commission of the state, the attorney general and prosecuting attorney of five different counties, in a suit begun in the United States Circuit court here by the Northern Pacific railway. Through its local officials' wholesale violations of the law, which went into effect last Thursday, confessed, and the state practically is defied to enforce the measure until the court first rules on its constitutionality.

It is the contention of the railway company that to comply with the law, would cost $185,000 additional a year in its operating expenses. This amount, it is declared, would grow larger with each succeeding year.

"The company asserts rights, privileges and immunities under the United States Constitution," states the complaint, and cites the various officials named to appear August 7 at Seattle and show reason why they should be permanently restrained from enforcing the statutes.

The officials who are restrained are: H. A. Fairchild, John C. Lawrence and Jesse S. Jones, composing the Public Service Commission; W. V. Tanner, attorney general; John F. Murphy, prosecuting attorney of King county; J. L. McMurray, prosecuting attorney of Pierce county; F. W. Temples, prosecuting attorney of Clark county; George W. Bowna, prosecuting attorney of Coville county; J. R. Buxton, prosecuting attorney of Lewis county.

PROSECUTE THE BIG TRUST OFFICIALS, IS DEMAND

CRITICIZES ATTORNEY GENERAL

Senator Asks Congress to Order Action Against the Standard Oil

Department of Justice Accused of Neglecting to Press Cases

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Criminal prosecution of the officers of the Standard Oil Company and the American Tobacco Company was demanded by Senator Pomeroy, who addressed the senate on his resolution calling on the attorney general to undertake such legal action.

The Ohio senator declared at the outset that the Sherman anti-trust law was specific in its authority to press such a suit against conspirators who restrain trade. He contended that the lawyers' doubts of the meaning of the statute were "in proportion to the size of the fees they receive from their clients," and that the interpretation of the law by the supreme court of the United States was clear.

"Now, with these plain findings of fact and conclusions by the court that this statute has been violated," he said, "what reason can be given by any sworn court official for not continuing his fight against them in order to bring them to the bar of justice? What excuse can any lawyer or any executive official give to the people of this country for a failure to enforce this law, when they are every day exerting themselves to punish transgressors with less money and less influence at their command? A decent sense of self-respect requires the government either to enforce this law or to repeal it."

Declaring that if criminal prosecutions had been undertaken when the law was first enforced there would have been no such concentration of power as exemplified by either of the two corporations under discussion, Pomeroy said that the failure of the supreme court to decide the right of the people of this country for a failure to enforce this law, when they are every day exerting themselves to punish transgressors with less money and less influence at their command? A decent sense of self-respect requires the government either to enforce this law or to repeal it."

WHO'S IN POWER?

"Speaking for myself," he said, "I think it is high time that the American people should understand whether the Stars and Stripes are to be the emblem of their power and authority, or whether that emblem shall be the oil barrel or the tobacco tag."

The senator summarized the opinions of the supreme court in both decisions, and contended that they disclosed that both corporations and their officials had been violating the law since its passage in 1890. He declared there was precedent for his resolutions of instruction to the attorney general, inasmuch as the latter had failed to undertake the criminal litigation, although it is provided for in the anti-trust law.

CREATURE OF THE LAW.

"The attorney general is but a creature of the law," he said. "His office was created by congress. He is clothed with such powers and required to perform such duties as congress sees fit to demand of him. It can add to or it can take away from those powers whenever in its judgment it is proper."

"It is not proposed that this resolution shall have the same force as a statute, but it is proposed to declare to the department of justice in no uncertain way that the congress which made it and clothed it with power is cognizant of the fact that the law has been violated, that the court has so declared; that for 21 years no respect has been made by any of these defendants to the provisions of the law, and that in the judgment of congress, the attorney general ought to begin these criminal proceedings and prosecute, and the resolution instructs him to do in order that the majesty of the law may be preserved."

Senator Pomeroy closed with an appeal to the senate for support of the resolution.

GIFTED ORATORS TO SPEAK FOR CAUSE OF SUFFRAGE

MEETING WILL BE HELD TONIGHT

Macdonough Theater Will Be Scene of Votes for Women Gathering.

Miss C. A. Whitney, Wellesley College Graduate, Will Preside.

Owing to the illness of Rev. Dr. Chas. F. Alford, the famous preacher, who recently left a large parish in New York city to accept a call to the First Presbyterian Church of San Francisco, he will not be able to expound the cause of equal suffrage at the mass meeting to be held this evening in the Macdonough theater under the auspices of the College Equal Suffrage League.

Duncan McKimley, surveyor of the port of San Francisco, and a speaker of national reputation, will present his views on the ballot for women, and will be the principal orator of the evening. Rev. Wm. Nat. Friedman, pastor of the Howard Street Presbyterian Church, San Francisco, will relate his experience in Colorado, where women vote. Mrs. James B. Hume, ex-president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, will also speak.

The theater will be open to the public, and judging by the number of inquiries and the interest shown in the cause the playhouse will be filled to overflowing.

Miss C. A. Whitney, one of the graduates of Wellesley College, and president of the league, will preside. Representative college graduates, society and club women of the Bay cities will be seated on the stage with the orators of the evening.

AKED WILL TOUR STATE.

Ministers and leading citizens of this community will be seen in the boxes and in the body of the theater. Pamphlets and literature will be distributed broadcast in the audience.

In behalf of the suffrage cause, Rev. Dr. Alford is planning to tour the state of California under the direction of the College Equal Suffrage League. On the strength of his assertion that nothing since the coming of Christ ever promised so much for the ultimate good of the human race as the intellectual, moral and political emancipation of women, the College league is more than ever impressed with the importance of the suffrage movement.

Rev. Dr. George W. White, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of this city, has issued the following statement to Mrs. Sarah C. Borland, one of the members of the Oakland Suffrage Amendment league, which is co-operating with the College Equal Suffrage league:

"The emancipation and the enfranchisement of women must go hand in hand. The one can not succeed without the other. Since women are asked to share the duties and the consequences of popular government, they can not rightfully be denied a share in the administration of it. Anything else is misgovernment."

"I am profoundly convinced that nothing but political chicanery would suffer from the ballot in the hands of women. I can see where great changes for the better in our political system would be likely to result."

"I am rejoiced that California is to have the opportunity of voting on the question, and if the men are as intelligent as they ought to be in order to hold it for the women."

COMPROMISE AUTO BANDITS U. S.-MEXICO IN TOILS OF LAND CASE THE LAW

Each Government Given Part of Territory Which Is Under Dispute.

Both Nations Dissent Over the Division of Property On Border Near El Paso.

EL PASO, June 15.—The international arbitration court, which has been sitting in the so-called Chamizal case in El Paso, to decide the ownership of $7,000,000 worth of property in the southern part of El Paso, today rendered its decision, which is a compromise. Its decision gives Mexico part of the land in question and El Paso part of it. Both the United States and Mexico dissent.

The Chamizal case has been in contention between the two governments for more than a dozen years. It was really brought to the fore when W. J. Warder of California filed suit in the federal court here to oust persons holding title to the land under the Texas laws, Warder alleging that he held title from Mexico under the Chamizal grant. He raised the point that the land had been thrown into the United States by a sudden change of the river, and that it therefore belonged to Mexico.

OPINIONS DIFFER.

The treaty of the United States and Mexico provides that were the river to make a sudden change, the land thrown from one country to another remains the property of the country to which it formerly belonged, but if the change is gradual by erosion, the territory belongs to the country into which it is thrown. The United States has contended that the change in the river bed has been gradual, but Mexico cites various full-grown trees between the former river channel and the present river, on American soil, as proof that the change had not been gradual, else the trees would have been washed away.

The two governments, being unable to agree on the ownership of the land, a treaty was drawn and adopted by the senators of each country providing for arbitration. Mexico chose Senator Blair Y. Puga and the United States selected Brigadier General Anson Mills.

THIRD COMMISSIONER NAMED.

Judge Eugene La Fleur of Montreal, Canada, was selected as the third commissioner. Taking of testimony and hearing of arguments begun in El Paso early in April.

Joquin Casasus, former Mexican ambassador to the United States, acted as chief counsel for Mexico, and A. W. C. Dennis, assistant solicitor general of the United States, was a counselor for the United States.

Two Out of Eight Captured at Scene of Bold New York Hold-up.

Rob Hotel Safe in Heart of the City, Arriving in Motor Car.

NEW YORK, June 15.—An automobile containing eight men pulled up in front of the Hotel Roy on West Thirty-first street, near Broadway, about 1 o'clock this morning and the men all lined up before Charles Simmons, the night clerk.

Each of them held a revolver and their leader ordered the clerk to stand back while he explored the cash drawer of the open safe.

There was nothing else for the clerk to do, and the intruder quickly scooped out $100 in bills. Then they fled out, the last one covering the clerk with his revolver until all were outside.

As soon as he was free the clerk grabbed his own revolver from a drawer and fired five shots to call the police. He got a response from a Broadway patrolman before the robbers could crank their automobile and get started.

The patrolman captured the last two of the men and found in the pockets of one of them a roll of bills twice the size of that which the hotel clerk had lost.

WOMAN DIVORCES MANY-JOBBED MAN

Josephine Conway Freed From Tailor-Stage Manager-Actor-Wine Agent.

Josephine H. Conway obtained a final decree of divorce late yesterday afternoon in the superior court from Edward G. Conway, cousin of Patrick Conway, leader of the famous band bearing that name, and which appears annually at Idora Park. The divorced man is a well-known tailor of Oakland, and was once manager for T. Daniel Frawley. He had also been an actor, a stage manager and a wine agent. Shortly after he and Mrs. Conway separated Conway went to China, returning from the Orient only recently.

The wife charged in her complaint for a divorce that Conway drank heavily, dissipated his money in fast company, and abused and neglected her. She was awarded the custody of the two minor children, but Conway has taken steps to get them away from her, alleging that she is not a proper person to rear them, because she has associated with other men.

DIES RATHER THAN LIVE IN DARK

Willard Gutchner, Condemned to Blindness, Fires Fatal Bullet.

"Do Best You Can With What You Have," Writes Retired Merchant.

Despair over the impending loss of his eyesight drove Willard Gutchner, 73 years old and a retired hardware merchant, to commit suicide last night after writing a farewell note to his wife telling of his intention. Gutchner had visited an oculist during the afternoon and his fears that he would eventually become blind were confirmed by the opinion of the expert.

Returning to his home, 534 Thirty-seventh street, Gutchner found that his wife, Mrs. Georgia Gutchner, was not at home. Brooding over the loss of his eyesight he sat waiting the return of Mrs. Gutchner, whom he had told on several occasions that he would rather take his own life than live in darkness. Finally he sat down at the small table in his room and placing his revolver beside him penned a farewell note to his wife, telling his last wishes and breathing his affection for her.

WRITES FAREWELL.

The note read as follows: "Plain cremation—funeral private—only prayer. Good-bye, dear wife, till we meet again in the sweet land of peace. George, dear, be brave, for all is well with me. Best wishes to you forever, from your loving husband—do the best you can with what you have."

The letter is scrawled on a sheet of note paper and gives evidence of the failing eyesight which caused the aged man to despair. After writing the note Gutchner placed the revolver in his breast and fired, the lead piercing his heart and apparently killing him almost instantly.

FOUND BY WIFE.

His body was found by Mrs. Gutchner on her return home last evening, the revolver lying but a few feet away, where he had thrown it after firing the shot.

Mrs. Gutchner is in the care of relatives. She declares that the last wishes of her husband will be obeyed. The funeral will be held Wednesday over the remains.

MRS. EATON FILES SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Difference in Temperaments Is Said to Be Responsible for Unhappiness.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—Charging failure to provide, Mrs. Ethel Cooley Eaton yesterday filed suit for divorce against her husband, Noble H. Eaton, wealthy insurance and club man, who resides in the First National Bank building. Eaton is a member of the Bohemian Club and is a member of a family prominent in California for two generations. Mrs. Eaton was, before her marriage, Ethel Cooley, described as a handsome blonde.

They were married about eight years ago and lived together until about a year ago, when Mrs. Eaton took up apartments alone at the St. Francis and announced that she intended earning her own living through leasing and conducting a big apartment house. Before she carried through her financial plans, however, she had planned to take alone to Europe, and with his wife went to live in a new home at San Mateo. He soon tired of the country, though, and returned to San Francisco, living a bachelor life, leaving his wife at San Mateo.

Differences between the Eatons are said to be founded chiefly upon difference in temperaments. The divorce has been expected by their friends and acquaintances for some months.

TRIPLE TROUBLE TAKES McBEAN INTO JAIL CELL

JAMES TABOR McBEAN, who is in trouble over his alleged illegal marriage.

Faces Charges of Failure to Provide and Bigamy, and May Lose Wife

James Tabor McBean is in a peck of trouble as a result of his alleged illegal marriage to Mabel Esther McBean, which took place July 23, 1907, at Alameda.

Aside from being a prisoner in the county jail charged with failing to provide for his two minor children, he is in danger of prosecution for bigamy and in addition to this Mrs. McBean filed a petition late yesterday afternoon in the superior court to have the marriage annulled.

About a month prior to the marriage McBean obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce from wife No. 1. Then he set about to capture the present Mrs. McBean. He pleads ignorance of the law, whereas the mother of his children alleges in her complaint for annulment that he said nothing to her about the divorce but led her to believe before and after the marriage that the first Mrs. McBean was dead. It was only recently, she claims, that she learned that Mrs. McBean No. 1 was still alive and that McBean had never been finally divorced.

Mrs. McBean asks the court to award to her the custody of the two children and to compel McBean to provide for them as a father should.

ACTION OF COURT IS AWAITED

White-Seymour Tangle Hangs on Decision of Supreme Justices

New Chief's Sign Torn Down From in Front of Old Official's Office

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—The supreme court's decision on the writ of mandate asked for by Colonel Alfred D. Cutler, who is seeking his former place on the police commission, and the probable appeal to that tribunal either tomorrow or Saturday, from Judge Seawell's opinion, quashing the charges against Chief of Police Seymour, will probably constitute the next important development in the police tangle.

Judge Seawell did not sign the petition for a writ of review in connection with the Postier accusations this morning and announced that no action would be taken by him until after noon. A representative of Attorney Peter Dunne's office, and Attorney Charles Hanlon, representing the police commission, appeared in court, but no further petitions were presented.

SIGN TORN DOWN.

The sign which has all along been nailed outside the office of Chief Seymour, indicating that Chief White had established his headquarters upstairs, was not in place this morning, and had evidently been torn down by some sympathizer. Corporal Dobbin, who has been occupying the room to Seymour's office, ventured the opinion that the malicious person guilty of the removal was "no gentleman," but further than that nothing has been done by the sleuths to apprehend the culprit.

The law allows Attorney Hanlon five days in which to appeal from Judge Seawell's opinions rendered yesterday, and by Saturday it is expected that he will have laid the matter before the higher court. Meantime Judge Smith, who is looking out for Seymour's interest, is counting on the decision in the Cutler matter, which might have the effect of restoring the former police commissioner to the position which he has been claiming.

JUSTICES TO DECIDE.

The highest State tribunal will therefore be the court of last resort to determine the merits of the present controversy, which has placed San Francisco in the peculiar position of having two de facto chiefs of police. It is understood that should Judge Seawell sign the present application for a writ of review of the latest charges against the chief he will require the books and papers of the department to be brought by Secretary Skelly and a regular hearing on the charges conducted before him.

Letters received at police headquarters this morning from neighboring towns bore the inscription, "D. A. White, chief of police," and all of the surrounding towns have been notified to send mail to him.

A meeting of the police commission is scheduled for 2 o'clock this afternoon, when the board will transact routine business. It is not expected that the police charges will be brought up.

ROWELL SETS HIGH BURGLAR WORKS MARK FOR TALKS TO GRADUATES AS FAMILY EATS

$50 for Commencement Address Breaks All Records in Berkeley.
DR. DAVID BARROWS DOES THE TRICK FOR $25
Judge E. J. Brown Gives a Lot of Advice and Charges Nothing.

BERKELEY, June 15.—With the increasing high cost of living, the price of high school commencement addresses in Berkeley, according to investigation made today, has gone up from nothing prior to 1908 to $25 that year and to $50 in 1911.

Chester H. Rowell, the Fresno editor, will receive for his effort at the high school June 2 the highest honorarium ever given a commencement speaker at the institution—if he does not decline pay altogether, or ask that it be limited to the amount of his expense on that occasion. The editor hasn't yet mentioned a reduction or the withdrawal of the whole bill. The regulation has been O. K'd by Principal Gilbert N. Brink of the high school, and will come up for consideration at the board meeting, June 20, unless the procedure is stopped by Rowell.

Search for precedent for the payment of $50 to a high school speaker here has proved unsuccessful. Secretary Morris C. James of the Board of Education has been connected with the school department for several years, and he has not recalled any such amount as having been paid for the annual sermon to graduates on how to get on in the world.

The announcement in yesterday's TRIBUNE that Rowell's $50 bill was in the hands of the board caused many who had heard the address to recall as much as they could of Rowell's effort, that they might judge its quality and compare it with former speakers. The question has been raised in the minds of the board whether a standard has been set, and the Fresno recall may be a precedent for the future.

Dr. David Barrows, professor of education and dean of the graduate department of the University of California, delivered the high school commencement address. He is one of the most noted educators in the West. He received $25.

NO PAY FOR JUDGE BROWN.
The year previous Judge Everett J. Brown of the Alameda County Superior Court delivered the graduating day talk, without pay.

Man Hunting Animals of Police Department Send Prey Into Tall Timber.

BERKELEY, June 15.—Strenuous realism marked a man-hunt with bloodhounds in the Berkeley hills yesterday afternoon, which was intended to be merely imaginary.

Special Officer John Shackleton, of the local police department, followed the four dogs attached to the criminal chasing branch of the force, while Sergeant Thomas Woolley, Sergeant Claude Linthier, Frank Ingersoll and Charles White, a citizen, acted as the animals' prey.

WRECK OF MAINE
UNCOVERED TODAYFor Thirteen Years Battleship
Was Submerged in Waters of Havana Harbor.

HAVANA, June 15.—After having lain thirteen years beneath the waters of Havana harbor, the wreck of the battleship Maine was uncovered today and the actual work of investigation into the cause of the disaster is to begin immediately.

Yesterday, after a thorough investigation of the struts of the battleship, the wreck was uncovered, the officers and crew of the battleship, General Bixbee and Colonel Black and Patrick pronounced the dam of sufficient stability to resist the pressure of the waters of the bay when the waters inside the dam were reduced.

This morning the big pumps started upon the work of reducing the level from 4 1/2 to 10 feet, and by afternoon enough of the water had been drained by the pumps to reveal the quarter-deck and portion of the hull deck, permitting a partial exploration of the highest part of the after section from the stern to the break caused by the explosion.

PLAN OF OPERATION.

The engineers in charge of the work believe it will be impossible to complete the recovery of the wreck in order that the stern and the after two-thirds of the ship may be bodily lifted from the forward portion. The latter portion of the wreck is so completely buried in mud that it may be necessary to dissect it by blasts into portable fragments in order to raise it at all.

It is believed impossible to lift the forward section of the wreck as a whole, and taking it out by piecemeal is believed to be the only method of raising it for investigation.

The work of recovering the bodies of the sailors and officers who were sleeping on the berth deck at the time of the explosion started tomorrow. It is believed that all the bodies will have been recovered in a week or ten days.

ROB WOMAN SALOONKEEPER.
SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—Two customers in the saloon of Mrs. Mary Henderson, 2001 Broadway, San Francisco, were caught in robbing the proprietress this morning while she was serving them with drinks. While one of the pair kept her in conversation, a second slipped into her bedroom adjoining and stole a watch and $20 in money.

ELKS PAY TRIBUTE TO OLD GLORY AT ANNUAL CEREMONY

MRS. CLINTON G. DODGE, whose singing was one of the features of flag exercises of Oakland Lodge of Elks at Idora Park Theater last evening.

Oakland Lodge of Elks, No. 171, attended the Idora Park theater in a body last night to witness the flag day exercises held there by the members. The theater was packed to its utmost capacity. Not only the members of the lodge, but their friends and relatives listened to the elaborate program.

Louis H. Ward, lecturer of the San Francisco lodge, was the orator of the evening and in an eloquent address said:

ADDRESS BY WARD.

"The Order of Elks is, distinctively American. To be an Elk, one must believe in the existence of a Supreme Being and must be a citizen of the United States of America. This is the day on which we manifest our loving allegiance to country. Love of country is love of humanity, and love of humanity necessarily means love of the Maker of humanity, love of God. How closely the two cardinal principles of our order—

God and country—are allied; we reverence God in the privacy of our lodge room, but we set apart this day in each year to glorify our country.

"This order has justified its existence, and earned the commendation of those who love their country, by the work it has done in causing a proper celebration of at least one of our national holidays. On this day above all others, the Order of Elks especially rejoices in the consciousness of patriotic accomplishment, and on this day above all others, every member regards his membership as a badge of honor. We observe this day in degenerated revelry of senseless noise and aimless explosion, but in lessons and expressions of good citizenship and pride of country. No other day of national ceremony has as broad and fitting a significance to the Order of Elks as Flag Day.

FLAG AN INSPIRATION.

"Our flag is an inspiration to national pride and love of country. Its field of blue is as deep as the azure of heaven; its constellated stars are as bright as those that stud the canopy of the night, and its red and white, brilliant and pure, stand out as a symbol of our national birth. In the flag you see the strength of our people, and that strength rests in our loyalty to our country. It records the achievement of its defenders by land and sea; it attests the valor of our army and the courage of our citizens in all the wars of our republic. When our squadrons with sails unfurled and guns booming, seas and drop anchor in the harbors of the world, there shall be heard not only the cooing of the dove, numbing, 'Let there be peace, but beneath its soft on treaty, the perfect diapason of the big guns, resounding, if not peace, then we are prepared for war.'

"The stars and stripes should be indelibly impressed upon your heart. The flag of our country proclaims that we acknowledge no other sovereign than our selves. With loyalty in our hearts and with the flag of our country in our hands, there is no danger to this land. To be loyal to your country in time of war you must give, if necessary, your body; in time of peace, your heart, your intellect, your conscience.

ILLUSTRIOUS MEN.

"We bow our heads in grateful reverence before the spirit of those noble and illustrious men who by their devotion and labors made possible the enjoyment of this gift which is the supreme degree of joy. God destined this country to fulfill a mission more glorious in its ancient or modern times, and it behooves every American citizen to assist, with all his power of brain and brawn, to continue this country as she now is, a leader in civilization. But our efforts must always be directed along a sane course: righteousness, honor, rectitude must be ever kept in mind. We must not follow a course so that we continue our country as a noble country, a generous country, a fraternal country.

"In comparison with other nations, we are yet young. We are only beginning, but the life of our nation as a whole, not a certain area of land, mountains, rivers and woods, but it is a principle, and patriotism is loyalty to that principle. But loyalty does not mean emotional love, but intelligent love, and I believe that there is a moral sentiment in this country which makes the glooms of its morning the glory of its prime, which honors the name 'American' so much that it would willingly die rather than see it desecrated. In science and art, in manufacture, commerce and agriculture, we stand equal with any other country. We are a free nation; we govern ourselves; we are possessed of a grand constitution; our representatives come from among ourselves, and we altogether rule this vast land. At the present we are a successful nation, but to remain so we must bear in mind the words of that noble patriot and hero, that military genius, the father of his country, George Washington, when he said, 'To be a happy nation, you must practice harmony, honesty, industry and frugality.'

FIDELITY TO COUNTRY.

"So we see that true loyalty to country is not only the giving of the loud acclaim, the grand hurrah; in time of war you may give your body, but in time of peace, fidelity to country is the cultivation of industry, for if we become slothful as individuals we will soon lose our identity as a nation. If we are industrious, we must also be frugal; we must intelligently and conscientiously decide disputes among ourselves; we must live in peace, in harmony, for if we fight among ourselves, what chance have we for protection against the foreign enemy? And lastly, but above all else we must be honest in our relations with every man, in our business dealings, honest with ourselves, honest in our thoughts, and then there can be no mistaking our loyalty to country. Thank God, no charge of disloyalty can be placed at the door of an Elk; the Elks' principles, the Elks' practices, the Elks' doctrines, the lives of Elks, justify me in proclaiming in no uncertain voice that a true Elk will never—can never be a traitor to his country."
